- It has been over 50 years since Richard Scarry's Best Word Book Ever was released, selling over 5 million copies globally. Britannica's Ready-for-School Words provides a modern update to the classic word book by featuring high-tech words, modern illustrations, and a diverse cast of human characters of all races, ages, abilities, gender expressions and religions.
- This book also features simplified definitions, including common words that are difficult to illustrate (creativity, pretend, allergy) with visual context clues.
- This book focuses on family and community. Each family depicted is made up of different family members (aunts, uncles, grandparents, parents, brothers, sisters, etc.) so all children can see themselves and their families represented.
- In addition to learning new words, readers can follow characters throughout the book as they go about their daily routines. Multiple characters are included in each spread as families mix and mingle over the course of one day.

Britannica's Word of the Day

366 Elevating Utterances to Stretch Your Cranium and Tickle Your Humerus

Patrick and Renee Kelly, Sue Macy, Josy Bloggs, Emily Cox, James Gibbs, Liz Kay, Britannica Group

Britannica's Word of the Day builds knowledge one day at a time with 366 masterful words.

Become a word virtuoso in just one year with 366 crackerjack words aimed to impress. This charmingly illustrated book features boffo words selected by the masterminds at Britannica to highlight the best of the English language.

Follow a menagerie of animals as they teach one new word for each day of the year, including a pronunciation guide, definition, sample sentence, and interesting trivia about the word's usage or etymology. Each month concludes with an outlandish story that features all the new words learned. This delightfully challenging book will turn word aficionados into passionate logophiles!

- Can be purchased at any time of year for many years to come. Each month contains an introduction, one word per day individually or in thematic groups (Disaster, Cuisine, Bugs), plus an end-of-the-month story that includes all the words.
- Words feature clear and helpful illustrations for readers and are introduced with a pronunciation guide, definition, and interesting trivia about the word.
- Delightfully challenging and surprising words with definitions and examples will convert even the most vocabulary-resistant middle schoolers (and grown-ups, too) into passionate logophiles!

Tomfoolery

(tom-FOO-luh-ree)

playful or foolish behavior (noun)

In her book Anne of Green Gables, author Lucy Maud Montgomery had one character describe Anne as 'writing stories or practising dialogues or some such tomfoolery, and never thinking once about the time or her duties.' That grumpy character obviously didn't think writing or acting was serious work!

19 JANUARY

Virtuoso

(ver-choo-OH-soh)

a person who is an outstanding performer, especially in music (noun)

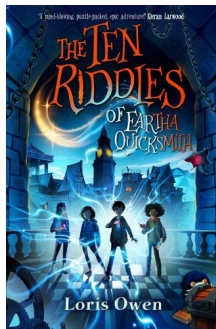

Singer-songwriter Prince, born in 1958, was considered a virtuoso on guitar, as well as one of the greatest musicians of his generation.

The Myriad Mysteries of Eartha Quicksmith

Loris Owen

- Sequel to The Ten Riddles of Eartha Quicksmith which takes the world readers know and love and adds more inventions, riddles and exciting adventure.
- Loris is a very enthusiastic author, excellent at events and school visits.
- To be supported by an extensive social media campaign, new riddles and competitions for readers and summer reading promotions.
- Discover all about the Quicksmith adventures on www.quicksmiths.com

Summary:

Welcome back to Quicksmiths College of Strange Energy, where Kip and his friends must take a rollercoaster journey through time and space to uncover amazing new secrets and defeat old enemies.

With the Ark of Ideas resisting even Professor Steampunk's attempts to learn its secrets, the team is at a loss as to how to fulfil the mission set by renaissance genius Eartha Quicksmith. But then a dream discovery and a freak accident sends Kip and Timmi hurtling on a dangerous quest through impossible worlds. Can they escape the Myriad Pirates, and can Leela and Albert help them unravel Eartha's new riddles and find their way safely home again?

Full of adventure, invention, teamwork and a large helping of sideways thinking, this is an action-packed sequel to The Ten Riddles of Eartha Quicksmith.

Loris Owen has lived in Europe, Africa and the Middle East. A former communications and content specialist, her home is now in Kent where she runs a small business and also spends her days hunting for interesting combinations of words.

THE PERFECT ROCK

Sarah Noble

Hardback | 230 x 270mm | 32pp
ISBN 9781838740511 | £12.99

Three young otters do everything together. They play in the waves, eat their shellfish and snuggle up together to sleep. But there comes a day in every otter's life when they must find the perfect pebble. One shiny and strong enough to crack open shells for themselves. When they find the best pebble of all, who will get to keep it?

This picture book about sibling struggles and family love makes a cosy bedtime read that can help with difficult conversations about sharing. Sarah Noble's gorgeous illustrations bring the world of sea otters to life.

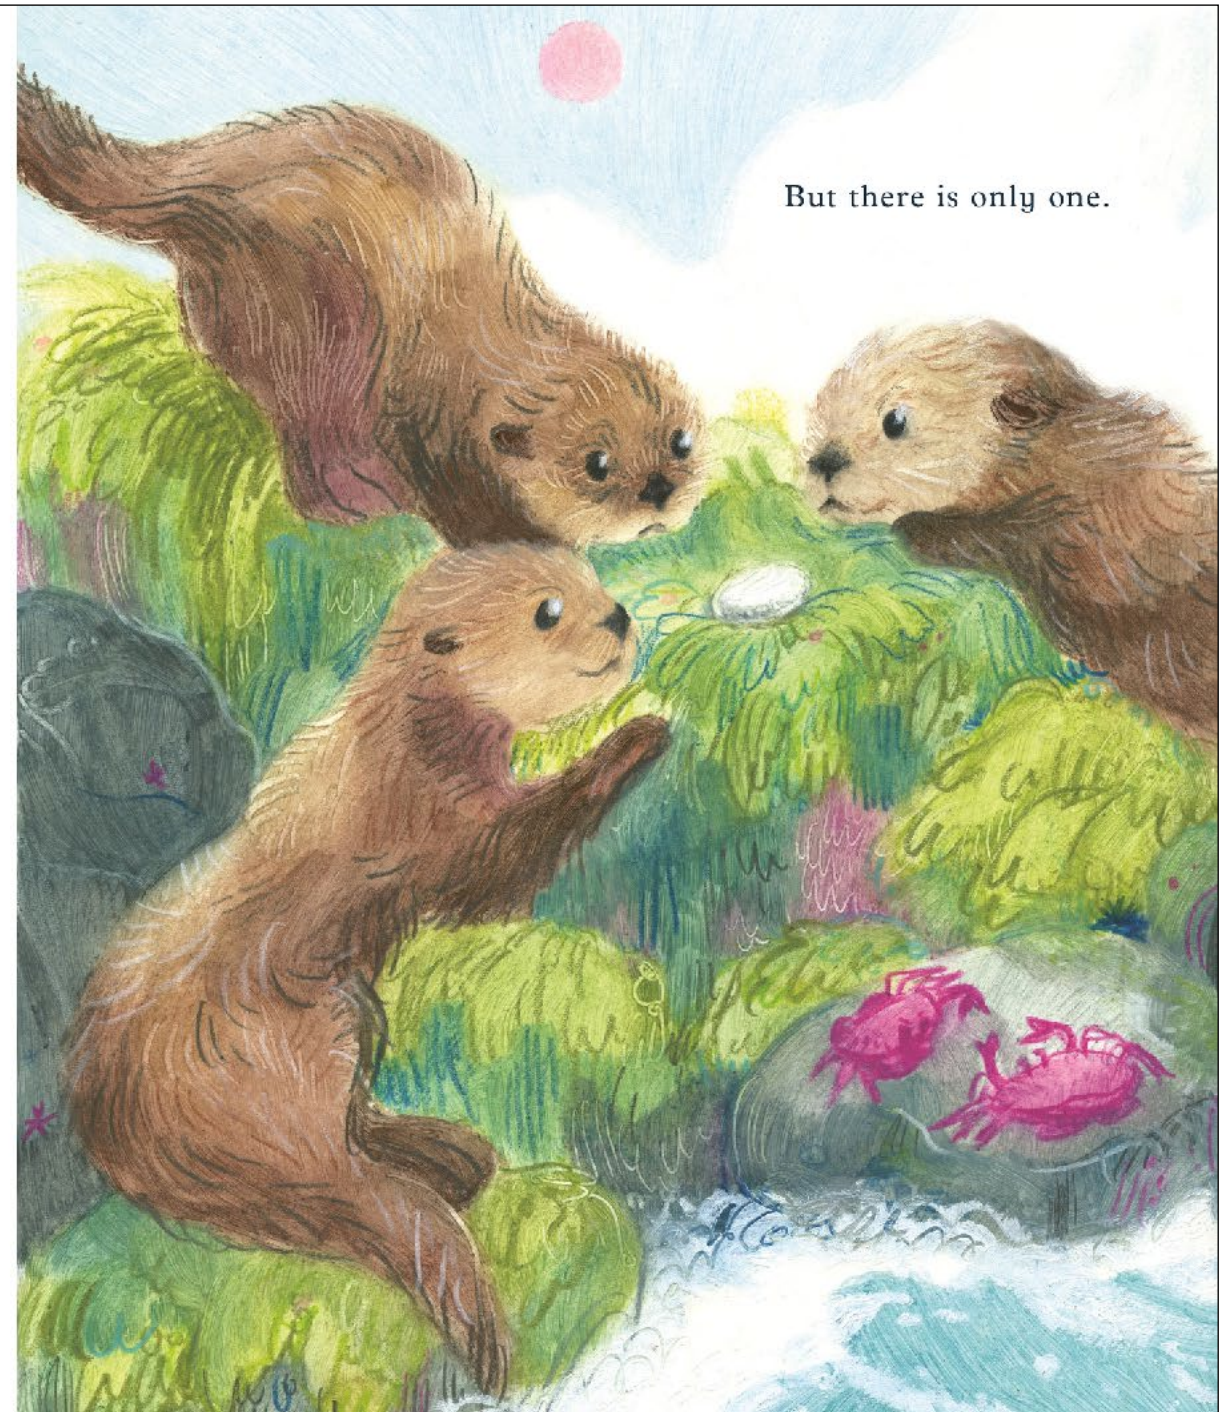

"It's tough!" Ollie says,
"Tough enough to break the hardest shells."

"And smooth," says Bea.
"Smooth enough to dance in my hands."

"I love it," says Ula.
They all do.

But there is only one.

Sales Points

- Building on the success of Sarah Noble's previous picture book about wild animals, As Strong As the River.
- Uses cute animals to talk about the theme of sibling rivalry. The book can be used as a prompt to talk about sharing with brothers and sisters.
- Sea otters are a popular animal - everyone loves how they float and hold hands and this book has plenty of adorable sea otter action.

Reviews

- 'A wonderfully vibrant and gripping Otter adventure, filled with an abundance of playful energy.' - Lucy Morris, author of The Song for Everyone
- 'The Perfect Rock is a heart warming tale of family and forgiveness, brought to life by Sarah Noble's sumptuous illustrations.' - Anneli Bray, author of The Last Garden

Author Biography

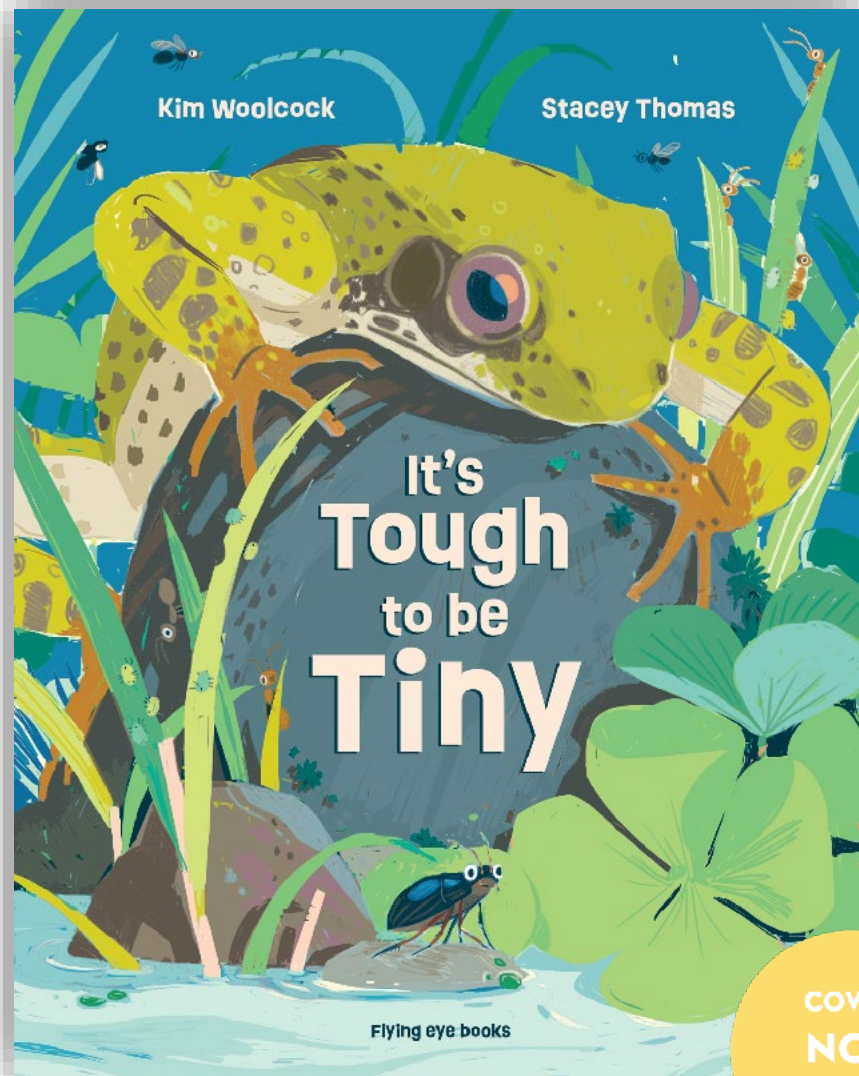

Sarah Noble is an American illustrator/author with a passion for colour, setting, and storytelling. She earned her Postgraduate degree in Children's Book Illustration from the Cambridge School of Art in the UK. Much of Sarah's inspiration is drawn from nature and wildlife, as evidenced by her debut picture book "As Strong as the River", which has received praise for its beautiful illustrations and subtle prose.

LOOK HARMLESS

Why go out hunting when you can make your food come to you?

The walking flower mantis, disguised as a beautiful orchid, sits and waits for its dinner to arrive. When butterflies, bees, or grasshoppers come looking for pollen or nectar to eat, the mantis snaps them up in its trap-like front legs. Instead of finding a meal, these visiting insects end up as a tasty meal themselves. Then the mantis goes back to looking like just another harmless flower...

It's Tough to be Tiny

Kim Woolcock (Illustrated By Stacey Thomas)

Keynote

Step inside the marvellous world of micro monsters and learn all about the hidden talents of some of the smallest creatures out there!

Description

Being tiny is tough! You can't reach the highest shelf where the cookie jar sits, and the big kids always steal your lunchtime snacks. Don't get me started on going to theme parks, you can never get on the rides and you're always told to have an adult present for everything you do. But what if I told you that being small didn't suck at all? But was in fact really, really cool.

Focus your eyes on the world of micro animals and learn what it's like to be so small. Discover how these tiny creatures stay safe, or hunt for their lunch. Zoom in on their superpowers, like having the ability to shoot microscopic darts, spring-loaded jumps which take them to incredible heights or the amazing ways in which tiny hunters defend themselves from much bigger creatures. Maybe it's not so tough to be tiny after all!

Sales Points

- A fun way to teach children about the small creatures they may never see with their own eyes, but would be excited to learn exist.
- A different take on the natural world, revealing how animals of all shapes and sizes are incredible in their own ways.
- Tying into how children see themselves, subtle themes of being proud of what makes you you – appealing to young children starting school or learning about themselves.

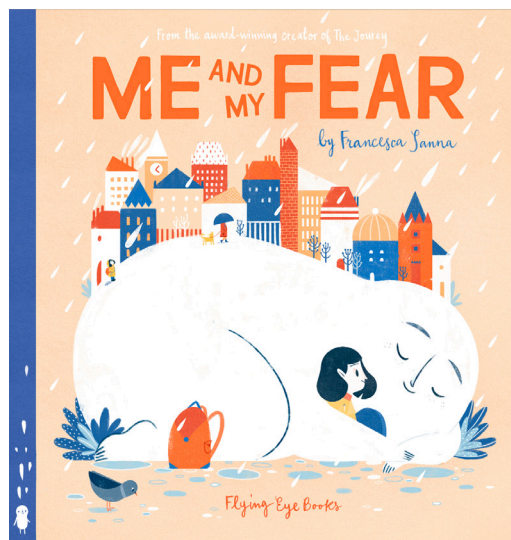

Author Biography

Kim Woolcock has always loved books and biology. She has an honours degree in literature from UBC and a Master's in Biology from Duke University. When she realised she loved writing about science more than doing lab work, she became Exhibits Director at a Natural History Museum. A full-time science writer and editor, Kim lives on Salt Spring Island, British Columbia, with her family.

Stacey Thomas is an illustrator and maker based in Oxfordshire, UK. She studied illustration at the University of Brighton, graduating in 2017. Her previous projects include editorial illustrations from Aquila, Scoop and Berenberg magazines; album artwork for David Gibb and Brady Rymer's 'Songs Across the Pond'; a set of animated gifs for Radiolab; a 24-page comic, 'Mostly Water', published by Family Store; and hoarding designs for the building works at the Royal Sussex County Hospital in Brighton.

Me and My Fear

FRANCESCA SANNA

When a young girl has to travel to a new country and start at a new school, her Fear tells her to be alone and afraid. How can she hope to make friends if she doesn't understand their language?

A heart-warming and relevant new tale from the bestselling author and illustrator of The Journey, this book shows us the importance of sharing your Fear with others – after all, everyone carries a Fear with them, even if it's small enough to fit into their pocket!

KEY SELLING POINTS

- Sanna's previous book, The Journey, won the 2017 Amnesty CILIP Honour.
- Deals with a topic that most children will relate to (fear and anxiety) while subtly addressing the struggles that refugee children might face in a new country.
- Endorsed by Amnesty International, this is a relevant and sympathetic tale about the plight of migrants.

Alexis Deacon

Keynote

The widely-anticipated conclusion to Alexis Deacon's fantasy series has finally arrived, bringing more action, tragedy and magic than ever before in a brand-new format.

Description

The dramatic and hotly anticipated conclusion to Alexis Deacon's original Geis trilogy, featuring new branding and a format designed to sit alongside Curse of the Chosen Volume 1.

As the great chief matriarch lay dying, she gave one final decree: Upon her death there would be a contest. Having no heir of her own blood she called on the Gods. Let fate decide the one truly worthy to rule in her place. The rich, the strong, the wise, the powerful; many put forward their names in hope of being chosen. But when the night came... only fifty souls alone were chosen.

As Io's quest reaches its deadly and dramatic conclusion, things are not all as they seem in the sorceress' game for the right to rule. Still trapped inside the torturous nightmares within the castle, who will remain in the battle for the throne, and which of the chosen will be lost along the way? Or will they fail in their attempts to escape the horrors within?

Alexis Deacon draws his Geis trilogy to an epic and emotive conclusion in this newly branded volume, packed to the rafters with his beautiful artwork and gripping storytelling.

Sales Points

- Alexis Deacon won the Guardian short graphic story competition
- The epic and much-anticipated conclusion to the Geis series in a gorgeous new format, designed to sit alongside the new bind up of books 1 & 2 in 'Curse of the Chosen Volume 1'
- A book that collectors of new editions will want to have on their shelves to compliment their existing versions of the books.
- Visually arresting artwork in a pencil and wash style in a traditional fantasy style that will inspire fantasy enthusiasts and comic collectors alike.
- Manga-style design for the cover will appeal to manga collectors and make the book accessible to all.

Author Biography

Alexis Deacon is a writer and illustrator of children's books. His first book, Slow Loris, was published in 2002 and was shortlisted for the Blue Peter Book Award. In 2015 it was named one of the hundred best children's books of all time by Time Magazine. He has twice been shortlisted for the Kate Greenaway Medal and is a two time recipient of The New York Times Best Illustrated Children's Books Award. In 2014 The River won the Observer/Jonathan Cape/Comica Graphic Short Story Prize. In 2008 he was chosen by Booktrust as one of the ten best new illustrators of the preceding decade.

WHY I CHOSE THIS BOOK

“This book from Japan makes me relive when my younger brother ran away and we all gave him a sandwich for his suitcase—this child has energy and tenacity.”

Julia Marshall, Publisher

Free Kid to Good Home

Author/ Illustrator: Hiroshi Ito

In this comical twist on sibling rivalry, a girl decides she needs a new family—so she writes Free Kid on a box and waits in the street for some better parents to choose her

ABOUT THE BOOK

“When my squawking baby brother arrived, I realized I needed a new family. No one seemed to mind when I packed my bag. I took a box and used my best handwriting to write ‘FREE KID’, then waited for some new parents to take me home.”

Free Kid to Good Home takes a child’s impulse to run away from home to a comical extreme. Waiting in a box like an abandoned pet and encountering the passersby change the girl’s perspective. At the end of the day, when her parents pretend they need an older sister for their new baby, she is ready to leave her box and go happily back home.

SALES POINTS

- A light-hearted take on running away from home
- Accessible illustrated story for children starting on independent reading
- Graphic/comic style illustrations
- Childlike, subversive humour
- An enduring bestseller in Japan, now in its 31st edition

ABOUT THE AUTHOR & ILLUSTRATOR

Hiroshi Ito was born in Tokyo, Japan, and graduated from Waseda University with a degree in education. He began creating picture books while still a student and has since published many award-winning books.

WHY I CHOSE THIS BOOK

“Wooolf! captures the essence of the Simon we know and love from Poo Bum”

Julia Marshall, Publisher

Wooolf!

Author and Illustrator: Stephanie Blake

A twist on the classic cry wolf story in the best-selling series about Simon, the cheeky rabbit, who always gets what he wants.

ABOUT THE BOOK

There was once a little rabbit who always did only what he wanted.

When his mother asked him to tidy his room he cried, “Wolf!” and when she ran away, he did just what he wanted.

One day he did a wee where he wanted, and the wolf came to get him. “Wooolf!” he cried, but his mother didn’t fall for that. The wolf got him!

It was just Simon’s father in a wolf mask. Simon promised never to cry wolf again. But when his mother opened the cupboard in the morning, a wolf cried “Awwwoooo!”

A funny new book with a twist ending in the worldwide bestselling series about Simon the cheeky rabbit.

SALES POINTS

- One of the classic successful Simon stories
- Similar storytelling structure to Poo Bum with a twist ending
- New book will promote Simon backlist and Poo Bum alongside
- Simon animated series is on Netflix
- Poo Bum has sold almost 80,000 copies in English
- Blake’s books are loved by children all over the world, translated into more than 15 languages

ABOUT THE AUTHOR & ILLUSTRATOR

Stephanie Blake’s passion for writing and illustrating began in childhood when she created books for her brothers and sisters as birthday presents. She is the author and illustrator of dozens of highly successful children’s books.

The Nature of Wicca Gift Box

With western society's relentless emphasis on logic, technology and material success, it's no wonder that interest is surging in the ancient practices of Wicca – natural magic in harmony with the spiritual world and offering connection to imagination, intuition, emotion and myth.

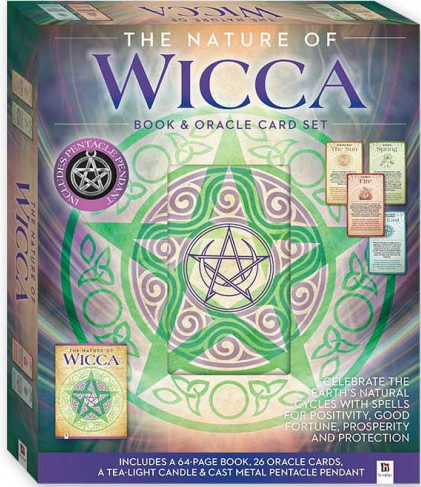

This beautiful new kit introduces and explores Wiccan ideas and rituals for use in modern life. The 64-page book covers basic magical theory, explains magical tools, and offers a variety of everyday and seasonal Wiccan rituals – plus, of course, spells for everything from inner calm, healing and protection to love and removal of obstacles or conflict!

Key Features:

- This fresh, gorgeously designed kit includes everything beginners need to start their Wiccan journey - an informative 64-page book, 26 oracle cards, a tea-light candle and a silvery pentacle pendant!
- Wicca, witches and spellcasting are having a resurgence, with new television shows like the Chilling Adventures of Sabrina and A Discovery of Witches being hugely popular.
- The Nature of Wicca kit builds on the success of our Secrets of Tarot kit and ongoing interest in mindfulness and spirituality.

Plastic bags are cheap and easy to use. But what happens when a bag breaks or is no longer needed? In Njau, Gambia, people simply dropped the bags and went on their way. One plastic bag became two. Then ten. Then a hundred. Some bags were burned, leaving behind a terrible smell. Some were buried, but they strangled gardens. They killed livestock that tried to eat them. Something had to change.

Isatou Ceesay was that change. She found a way to recycle the bags and transform her community. This inspirational true story shows how one person's actions really can make a difference in our world.

Sales Points

After the huge success of her debut picture book, The Girl Who Stole The Stars, Corrina brings this beautiful story about the meaning of being strong, brave and fearless.

A gentle and timely picture book helping children engage and talk about feelings of love and loss.

Corrina is a highly talented new author/ illustrator with a wonderfully quirky style, bringing to life her colourful world.

Description

What does it mean to be strong, brave and fearless? When a little boy finds a broken rainbow lying on the ground he decides to take it home and look after it. The little boy loves the rainbow but when it eventually disappears he finds out what it really means to be strong, brave and fearless. A magical story exploring one boy's journey through love and loss.

About the author

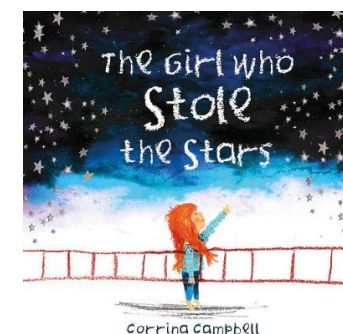

Corrina is a self-taught illustrator/author with a background in primary education. Having taught children from nursery to primary 7, Corrina has a wealth of knowledge with regards to engaging children in literature and knowing what makes a great story. It was this insight that encouraged her to start writing her own stories.

After spending several years writing, she finally explored the prospect of having one of her books illustrated. Unfortunately, finding a freelance illustrator proved challenging and expensive, so Corrina decided to have a go herself. Learning from her kitchen table via social media and online tutorials, Corrina taught herself the basic skills of graphic design and illustration. Eventually, after months of experimenting, she created her first fully illustrated picture book, The Girl who Stole the Stars.

Corrina continues to create and learn, now producing and selling her illustrated work online, while also developing other picture book ideas and stories.

The boy had never looked after a rainbow before.
Taking out his tool box he set to work.

First he matched up the broken bits and fixed them back together.

Then he mended the tears and patched up the holes.

Finally he restored each of the rainbow's colours.

Shu Lin's Grandpa

Matt Goodfellow, illustrated by Yu Rong

Shu Lin, a Chinese immigrant girl, finds it hard to gain acceptance in her new school, until her grandpa saves the day

Shu Lin is starting at a new school. She stands alone in the playground and at lunchtime she eats by herself from little boxes of brightly coloured food. "What's up with her?" says Barney.

But when Shu Lin's grandpa comes to school and shows the class his amazing Chinese paintings, everything changes....

With a stunning double-gatefold spread revealing a beautiful Chinese picture, this uplifting story shows the transformative power of art and imagination in developing cultural understanding and empathy.

Reviews

"This is a gentle, reflective book that helps children think about how it might feel to be new to a school and a country... with beautiful illustrations this is a book about acceptance and the power of art." - Juno

"That art is a hugely effective way of helping to develop empathy with other cultures comes across with a quiet power in this story that celebrates the imagination while demonstrating the importance of reaching out to others. An important book to include in primary school class collections." - Red Reading Hub

"Bookwagon recommends Shu Lin's Grandpa to every home and classroom. This is an outstanding picture book that deserves reading, knowing, treasuring and gifting." - Bookwagon

Author Information

Until recently a primary school teacher, Matt Goodfellow is now a full-time poet who visits schools across the country to give high-energy performances and workshops. His first poetry collection for Otter-Barry Books, Chicken on the Roof, received wide acclaim. Caterpillar Cake, for early years and KS1, illustrated by Krina Patel Sage, will be published in July 20. Matt lives in Stockport, Manchester, UK.

Yu Rong has degrees in Chinese Painting and Contemporary Art from Nanjing Normal University and in Communication and Design from the Royal College of Art, London. Deeply versed in traditional Chinese art, she has won numerous international awards including the BIB Golden Apple and the Chen Bochui International Children's Literature Award. Yu Rong's previous books include Snowflake in my Pocket (with Rachel Bright) and Tracks of a Panda (with Nick Dawson). She lives just outside Cambridge, England.

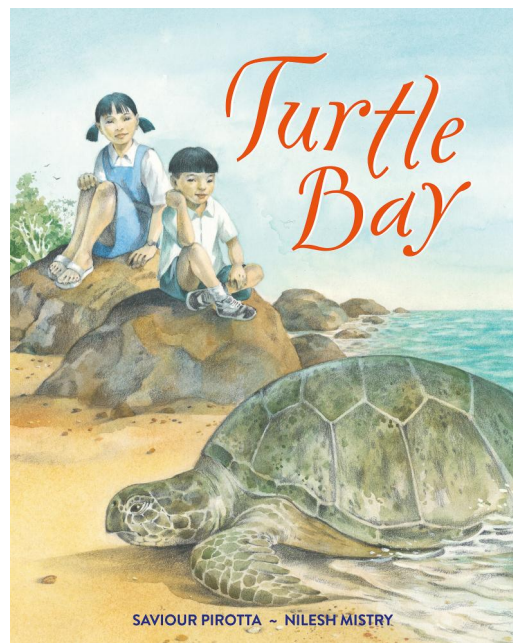

When Shu-Lin came to our school, she wore yellow wellies and a pink coat. She didn't speak English very well.

Turtle Bay

Saviour Pirotta, illustrated by Nilesh Mistry

New edition of a pioneering eco-story about saving sea turtles

How can Taro and Yuko help to protect the sea turtles?

This new edition of a classic, pioneering story about turtle conservation is needed today more than ever.

Taro and Yuko help old Jiro San to clean up the beach, and one amazing evening they discover why their work is so important.

Now the beach is safe, sea turtles come out of the ocean to lay their eggs in the clean sand. And a few weeks later, the children watch the miracle of baby turtles hatching and scurrying down to the sea.

- New edition published by popular demand from schools and libraries
- A pioneering eco-story, even more relevant today than when it was first published a quarter of a century ago
- Encourages empathy for marine life, particularly sea turtles
- Shows the threats sea turtles face from human pollution
- Endnote with conservation information
- "Friendship, patience and wisdom are finely woven in this story linking the lives of sea turtles and the people who care for them." George H. Balazs, global independent sea turtle scientist
- "... an inspiring ecological tale which celebrates the richness of marine life" Child Education
- "This is exactly the kind of book which will engage children's interest and inspire a sense of wonder about the world." School Librarian

Author Information

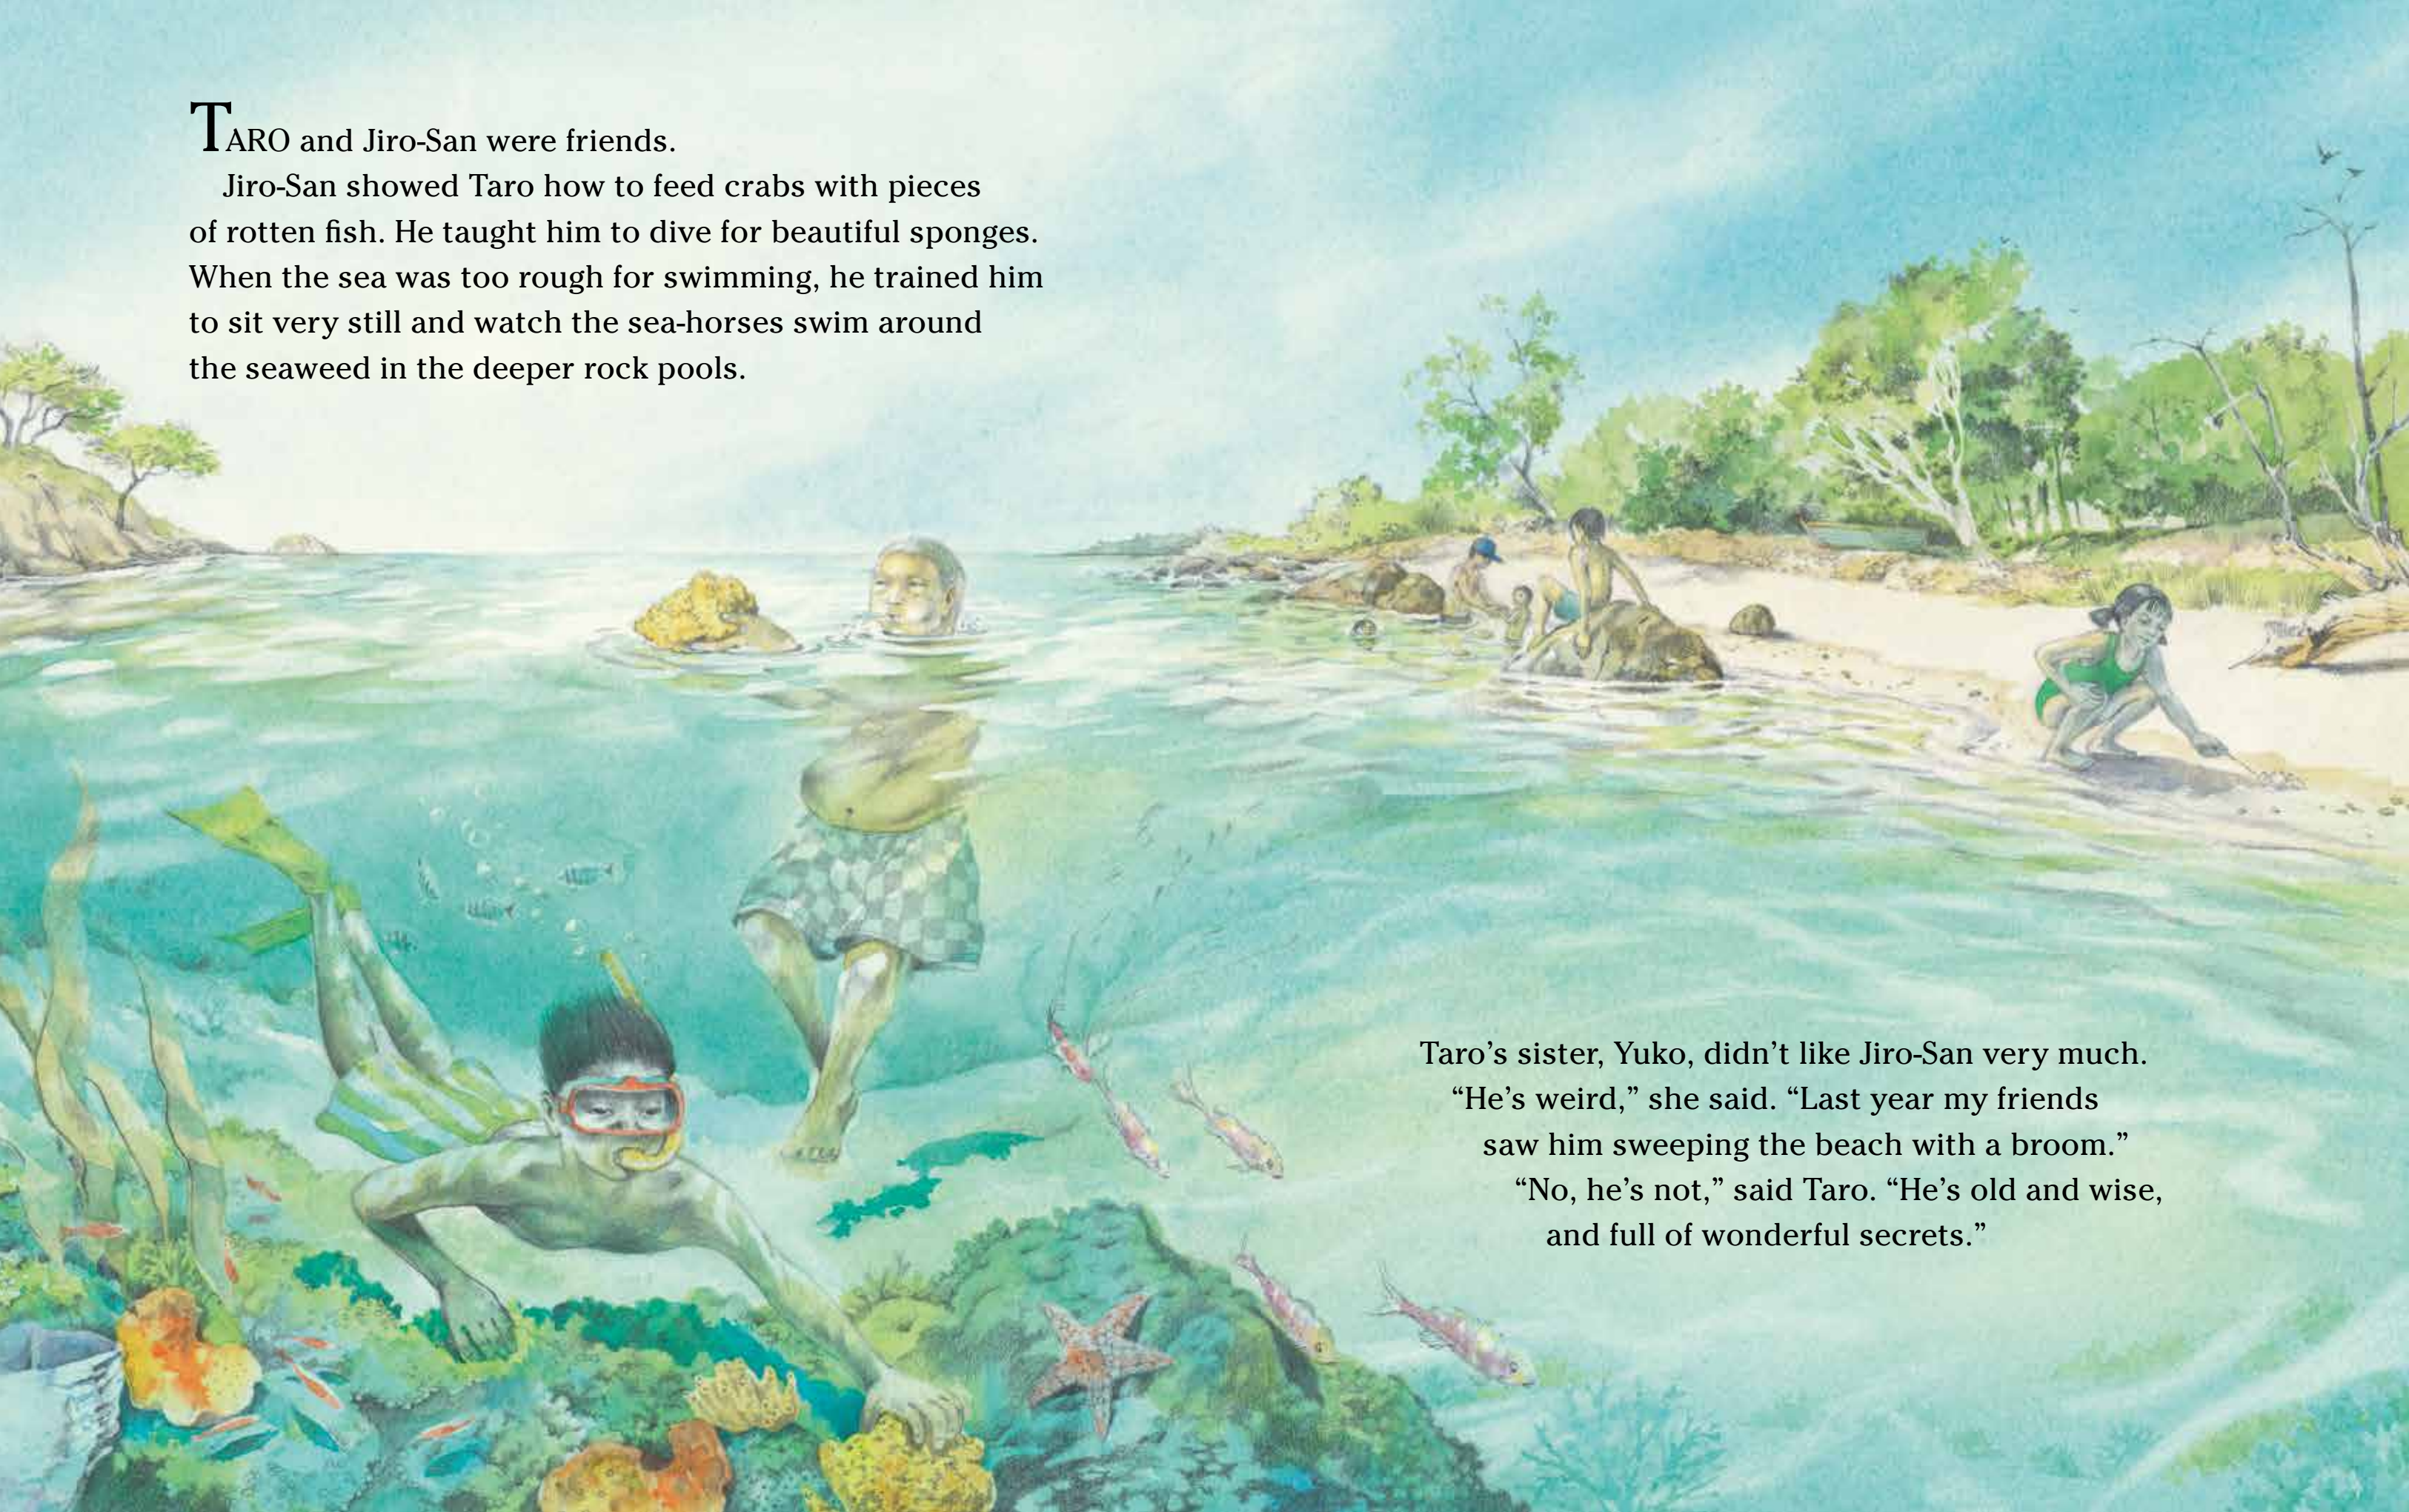

Saviour Pirotta is one of Britain's best known and bestselling writers for children. Born in Malta, he moved to Britain in 1981 and has over 100 books to his credit. He is a winner of the English Association Award (UK) and of the Aesop Award (USA). He lives in Scarborough, Yorkshire.

Nilesh Mistry was born in Mumbai, India, and studied at Harrow and Central St Martin's Schools of Art. His colourful and imaginative art can be seen in his illustrations for books by Michael Morpurgo, Jane Yolen, Jatinder Verma and many others. He lives in London.

TARO and Jiro-San were friends.

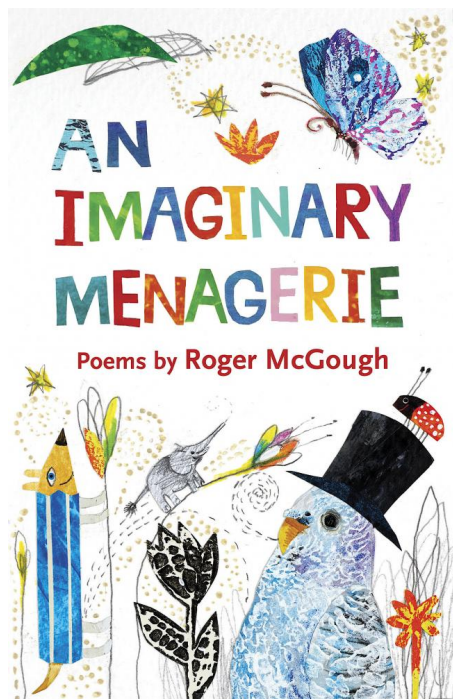

Jiro-San showed Taro how to feed crabs with pieces of rotten fish. He taught him to dive for beautiful sponges. When the sea was too rough for swimming, he trained him to sit very still and watch the sea-horses swim around the seaweed in the deeper rock pools.

Taro's sister, Yuko, didn't like Jiro-San very much. "He's weird," she said. "Last year my friends saw him sweeping the beach with a broom." "No, he's not," said Taro. "He's old and wise, and full of wonderful secrets."

I Am a Poetato

An A-Z of Poems About People, Pets and Other Creatures

John Hegley

Back by popular demand, a new edition of the much-loved poetry collection from 'Comedy's Poet Laureate'

I am a guillemot

I use my bill a lot

I get the fish out of the wet

I eat my fill a lot

Funny, witty, zany and thoughtful, this brilliant A-Z of animal poems will be loved by readers of all ages, including grown-ups.

Ants, (wise) camels, dogs, deckchairs, glasses, guillemots and Toby the Armadillo are all here, as well as the unusual unicorn in school. Presented in a unique scrapbook style, with the author's own drawings, this is a hilarious and exciting poetry book – even for those who think they don't like poetry!

- New edition of a classic comic collection
- By one of the UK's favourite performance poets
- John Hegley will promote the book at festivals and events throughout the UK
- 'Comedy's Poet Laureate' – Independent
- 'Poems for everyone, for readers of any age to enjoy' – Guardian
- 'Laugh-out-loud funny, yet thought-provoking' – Bookseller
- 'John Hegley is a delight' – Chortle
- 'The poems have a physicality and depth of interest that will keep readers returning to them time and time again'

Author Information

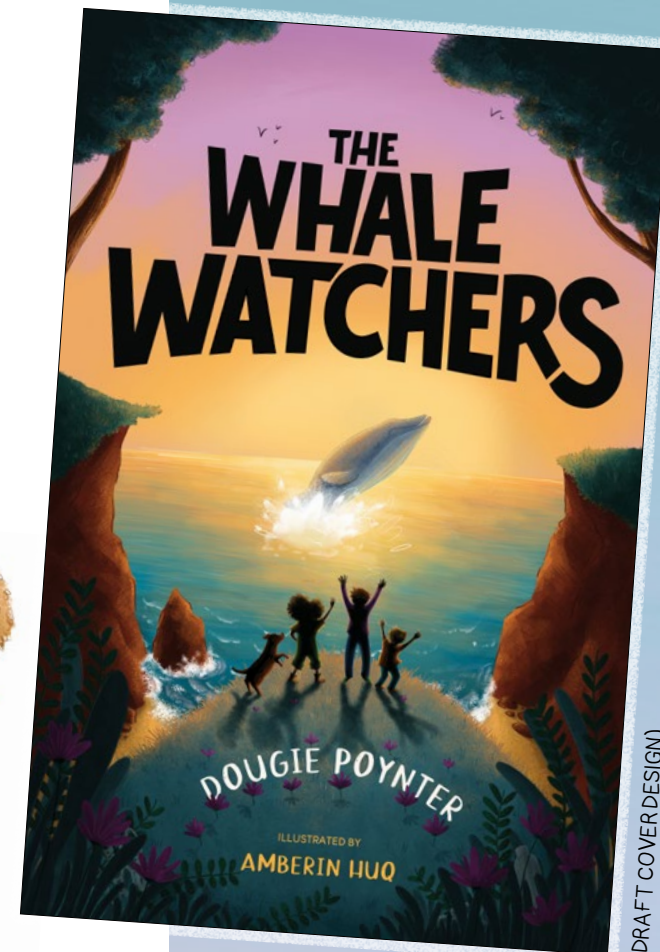

John Hegley was born in north London and brought up in Luton. He is the author of many bestselling poetry collections for adults and children, including My Dog is a Carrot, Monsieur Robinet and Stanley's Stick (with Neal Layton). He started out as a stand-up comedian/poet on the festival and comedy circuit and quickly became a sensation, with a huge fan-base. His family shows, at which he also plays the mandolin, will delight audiences of all ages. John lives in north London.

THE WHALE WATCHERS

Join The Whale Watchers on an unforgettable summer holiday adventure that raises awareness of the hugely significant, yet widely unknown, vital role that whales play in the fight against climate change, and explains how readers can help protect whales and their environment, by reducing single-use plastic and embracing a more sustainable reuse culture.

It's the first day of summer holidays and Finn can't believe his marine biologist mum is dragging him and his little brother Jesse off to miserable, rainy Scotland to study the whales that live there. Finn longs to be somewhere hot, lying by a hotel pool with his headphones on. He's sick of his mum's work, and of the knot in his stomach that tightens whenever he thinks about her hopeless cause - beautiful sea creatures endangered by a plastic-polluted ocean. But when a girl with binoculars round her neck and a dog at her heels takes Finn and Jesse to her secret lookout point, Finn soon finds himself swept up in an unforgettable adventure. But can he find hope too?

Dougie Poynter is a musician, songwriter, designer and the co-author, with McFly bandmate Tom Fletcher, of The Dinosaur That Pooped series which has sold more than a million copies, as well as having penned his own books, Plastic Sucks and Dinosaurs Rock. He is passionate about the natural world, a keen conservationist and was instrumental in the campaign to ban microplastics in the UK.

Amberin Huq studied illustration at University College Falmouth. She loves to create atmospheric illustrations in adventure stories. Her clients include Bloomsbury, Hodder Education and Highlights Magazine.

Finn was walking towards it in a trance when someone crashed straight into him, knocking his glasses clean off his face. "Watch where you're going, would you?" said a voice.

Finn groped for his glasses in the sand, blinded for a moment.

He put them back on then turned angrily towards his assailant. It was a girl, probably about the same age as him. She had wild, wind-blown hair and a furious scowl on her face that could have turned a kitten to stone. Finn only caught a glimpse of this scowl, as the girl didn't bother to stop. She just threw it over her shoulder, like an insult, then carried on storming down the beach. A brown shaggy dog was trotting after her and around her neck, Finn noticed, was a pair of binoculars.

"You ran into ME!" he shouted after her, but she was already gone.

"Of course we won't," said Finn, with much more confidence than he felt, though when he looked across at Skye, he noticed that the hand on the tiller was shaking. He put a hand on her shoulder. "You can do this," he said, and Skye nodded, eyes fixed on the sea ahead.

"Can you see your mum's boat?" asked Skye, squinting through the mist.

But Finn couldn't see anything. It was like sailing through a cloud.

"Let me try with the binoculars," he said, but as he reached over to take them from Skye a huge wave smashed into them, spraying water over the side of the boat, and he lost his balance.

"NO!" shouted Skye as the binoculars slipped from his fingers and fell overboard.

Finn cursed internally. "I'm sorry," he said. "It's OK," said Skye, but Finn could tell she was upset.

THE GIFTS THAT GROW

A SUNFLOWER SISTERS STORY

ISBN: 978-1-913339-08-1
Picture Book | Extent: 32pp
Size: 215 x 304 mm
Publication: 05.07.22

Price: £7.99

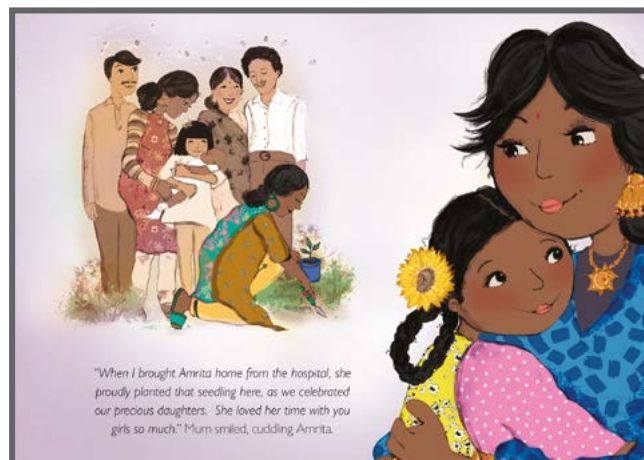

Author: Monika Singh Gangotra

Illustrator: Michaela Dias-Hayes

"The Gifts That Grow is a tale of generational love expressed through the importance of nurturing our environment for future generations to enjoy, even though we may never benefit from its rewards ourselves."

"When Amrita was just a 'little seed', growing in my tummy, her Nani travelled all the way from India with a cutting from that tree, to be with us during this special time."

"When I brought Amrita home from the hospital, she proudly planted that seedling here, as we celebrated our precious daughters. She loved her time with you girls so much." Murn smiled, cuddling Amrita.

FROM THE DUO THAT BROUGHT YOU 'SUNFLOWER SISTERS'

Selling points

- Author Monika Singh Gangotra, won The Big Family Cooking Showdown in 2017 (BBC2 & Netflix) and has a content focus on family and South Asian culture.
- Second in the picture book series to challenge outdated views around colourism in an uplifting way using familial love and empowerment.
- Partnership between two female creators of colour - a South Asian author and a dual heritage Illustrator with Jamaican heritage with an extended Indian family, which authentically reflects the world of the main characters and their families.
- Author's lived experiences and views as a mother contribute to positive social movement to tackle colourism across black and brown communities everywhere.

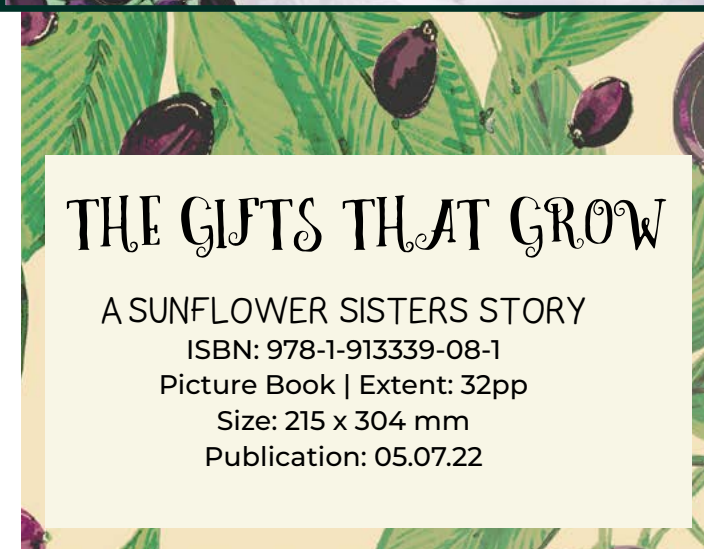

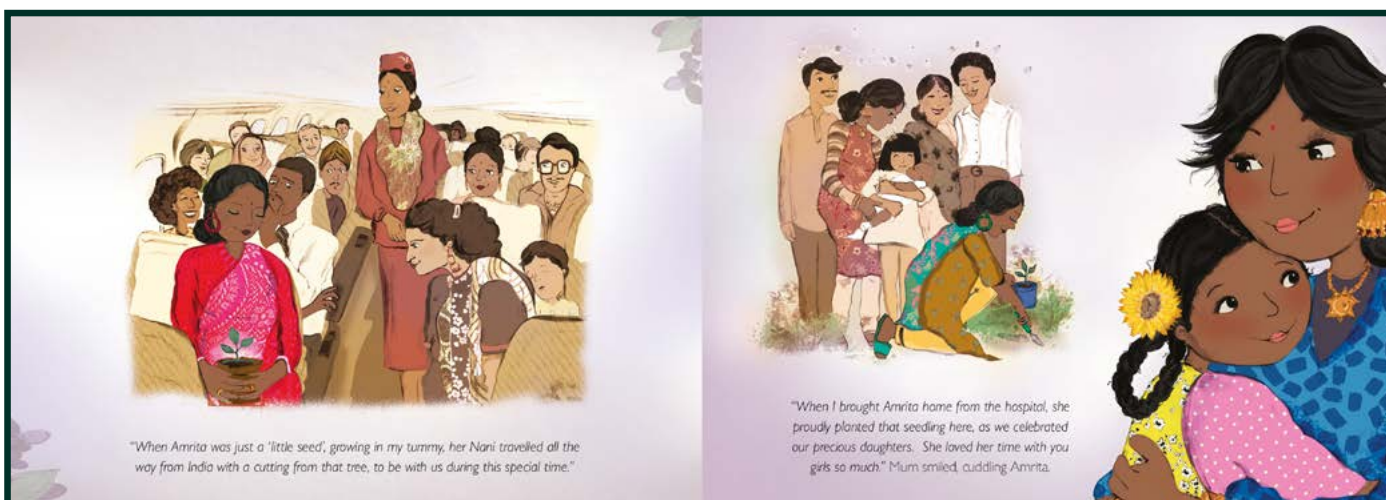

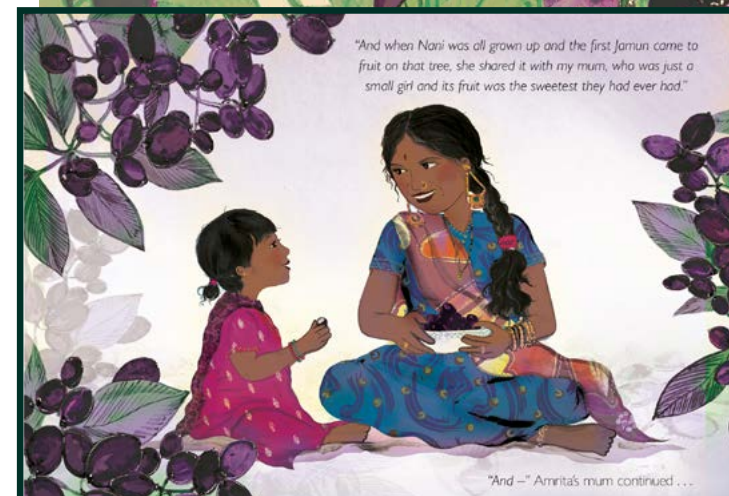

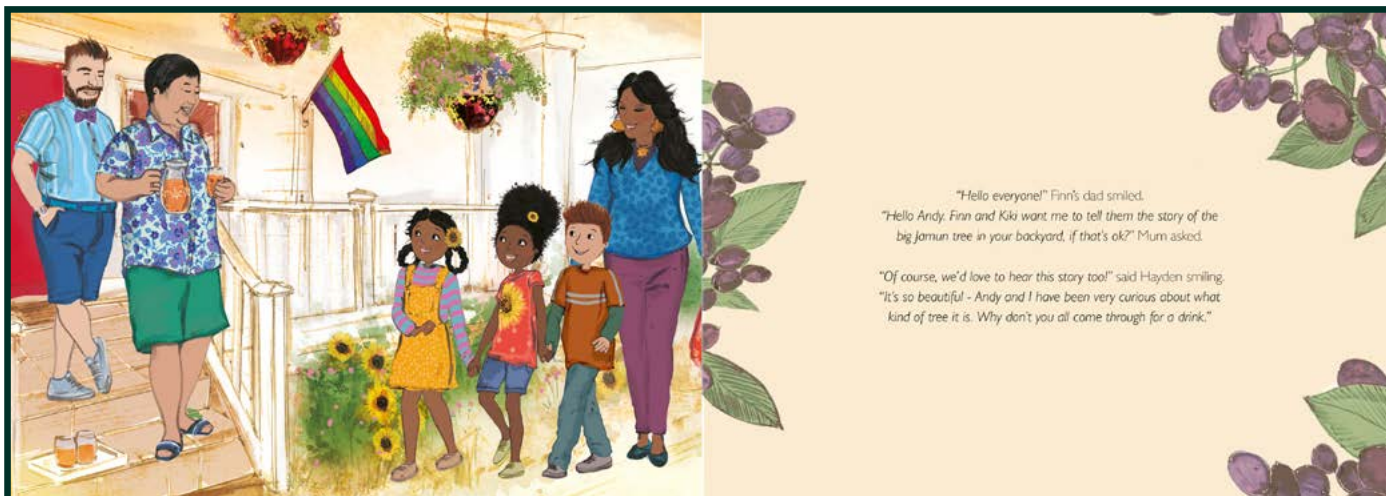

The second in a joyful 'own voice' picture book series, based on best friends Amrita and Kiki. Centred around a grandparent planting a Jamun tree to celebrate Amrita's birth, this story celebrates gifts of love that grow through generations.

FAMILY and ME!

Michaela
Dias-Hayes

A joyful book that shows children how their wonderful features and rich heritage are lovingly passed down from family members.

"I wrote this book to challenge the idea that we all have to fit into one box or another, in terms of our heritage. I was sick of seeing forms with tick boxes saying 'black', 'white' or 'other'. The word 'other' lacked soul and meaning, when in fact, having a mixed heritage means that the opposite is true. This story is a love letter to my son and children everywhere who inherit such beautiful culture (and love) from generations of colour before them."

TOXIC

THE BOOK

Llewella has straight-A grades, a lucrative blog and a comfortable life. But she's never had a best friend. Could the new girl at sixth form, Aretha, be the one?

Llewella and Aretha get tight, quick. And before long, Llewella is following a diet Aretha has designed for her and has quit her own passions to do things with Aretha instead. She's determined to be the greatest friend she can be, even when Aretha says and does things that make Llewella feel the opposite of great.

That's how best-friendships work, right...?

AUTUMN MOONBEAM: DANCE MAGIC

EMMA FINLAYSON-PALMER

THE BOOK

Autumn Moonbeam loves gymnastics and dance so when Sparkledale Dance Academy have tryouts for their competitive dance team, Black Cats, she thinks it's the most broom-tastic opportunity ever! Just one problem, Autumn is nervous and worries she won't make it onto the team. And then she discovers that her nasty neighbour Severina Bloodworth, who is always throwing unpleasant comments her way, is trying out too. But with her best friend Batty by her side can Autumn overcome her shyness, lack of confidence and magical mishaps to be chosen to join Sparkledale Dance Academy?

Enchanting, fun and full of heart, this is a story about growing into yourself, following your dreams and making new friends along the way. With added stunts and magic, of course!

THE AUTHOR

Emma Finlayson-Palmer lives in the West Midlands with her husband and a multitude of children, cats and chickens! She runs #ukteenchat, a writing themed chat on Twitter, and mentors for #WriteMentor.

Autumn Moonbeam: Dance Magic is her first book for children and she is working on more books starring Autumn and her stunt squad.
