Sales Points

- Children will love debut illustrator Gabriela Gil's vibrant, humorous illustrations in this fun, cake-filled caper with an important underlying message.
- A hilarious whodunnit highlighting an important message – the difference between right and wrong and the joy that comes from making amends – in a fun, cake-filled way.
- Just like Press Here by Hervé Tullet, Bunny Slopes by Claudia Rueda and Don't Wake the Dragon by Bianca Schulze and Samara Hardy, this interactive picture book will engage children long beyond story time.

About the Author

Ellie lives in Brighton and has been penning children's books since her early twenties (which is quite a long time ago). She works as a senior editor and loves to hang out in coffee shops, sipping oat milk cappuccinos and soaking up inspiration with her beloved Mac laptop. Her dog Daisy, a goldendoodle, is usually to be found asleep at her feet.

About the Illustrator

Gabriela Gil has worked as an art educator in museums, an illustration teacher and is currently an illustrator. In 2021 she was among the finalists for the 55th Illustrators' Exhibition at Bologna Children's Book Fair. On days off, she loves to take care of the plants, eat carrot cake and walk in the park with her dog Filó.

- Hidden visual clues and an interactive narrative will instantly immerse readers in the action.
- Fantastically intricate illustrations, packed with look-and-spot details.
- Encourages readers to take their time and change their perspective to solve problems they might face.

About the Author

Ellie has always loved picture books. As a little girl she thought it would be pretty cool to work on them – and even more amazing to write one. After a lot of dithering, cups of tea, and creative support from the fab people in her life she finally managed to do both. Ellie lives in London and her next life goal is to own a cat. A fluffy one.

About the Illustrator

Brendan Kearney lives and works in the South West of England with his family and little dog, Crumble. He has loved drawing since he was a kid and feels very lucky to be able to draw for a living. He particularly enjoys drawing animals (especially sloths). When he isn't drawing, he enjoys playing guitar and exploring the woods and rivers of Dartmoor.
