ABOUT THE BOOK

This album follows the story of a placid polar bear living happily on the ice floe. Pleased with the bland yet peaceful environment, his world is turned upside down when Aaron the kangaroo literally falls from the sky. A one-of-a-kind friendship will then bloom between the tranquil bear and the very excitable kangaroo...

A beautiful picture book which tells the heart-warming story of an unusual friendship, teaching children about tolerance and difference.

Parents and children alike will be entranced by the superb illustrations by Hervé Le Goff!

Miniature Overture

How cold it was that Christmas Eve! A thick, white blanket of snow covered the rooftops, and the air was cold and crisp.

Clara and Franz had been waiting by the window for almost an hour when the carriage drew up outside the house. They rushed to the front door, bursting with excitement. Before long, the whole family was gathered by the fire. The flames flickered and danced in the fireplace.

"What a beautiful tree!" exclaimed Grandfather, nibbling on a mince pie. Clara's cheeks went pink with pride. She and Franz had taken great care decorating the tree and now their favourite decorations sparkled and shone, casting shadows over a growing pile of gifts of all shapes and sizes.

Suddenly, a cloaked figure appeared in the doorway. It was Uncle Drosselmeyer, wearing a dark cape with a hood, a scarf wrapped around his gaunt face, concealing where his left eye had once been.

Franz, who had always been a bit scared of Uncle Drosselmeyer, ran to hide in the folds of his mother's skirt, but the rest of the cousins cried out in delight. They loved mysterious Uncle Drosselmeyer and the strange toys he brought them as gifts. He had once been the best clock-maker in all the land. And it was rumoured that the old man could also do magic...

Uncle Drosselmeyer reached into his cape and, with a flourish, pulled out a large, lumpy sack.

"Merry Christmas!" he cried, emptying the contents of the sack under the tree. He added with a cheerful grin, "I think it's time to open some presents!"

ALL BODIES ARE WONDERFUL

written by Beth Cox, illustrated by Samantha Meredith expert consultant: Deborah Mackay, Professor of Medical Epigenetics

A HELPFUL GUIDE FOR TALKING ABOUT BODIES

A comprehensive guide for children - and the adults in their life - as they learn to deal with big feelings about bodies. From the atoms that make us to the things our body can do, ALL bodies are wonderful! But we know that bodies can be tricky to understand. This book shows that being different is completely natural because ... it's all just science! Trust the experts to help you have big conversations together.

KEY SELLING POINTS:

- Fill knowledge gaps in the KS2 Curriculum
- Empower adults with the information to support their children
- Provide the confidence to navigate big feelings about bodies

YOU ARE MADE OF STARDUST

★ All the elements on Earth came from the stars, which means that everything on Earth was originally part of a star. Including your body! You are made from stardust. Pretty incredible, right?

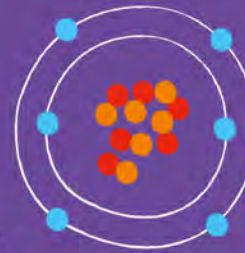

★ The heat inside the biggest stars is enough to make simple elements join together to make heavier elements.

A really big star can explode, in what is called a supernova, releasing the elements into space.

★ These elements combine in different ways to make new stars and things like planets and water – and some eventually made humans!

But how does this work?

★ An element is a substance that is made from only one type of atom. Atoms join together to make molecules.

● electron
● proton
● neutron

Your body may feel solid, but it's actually made out of 7 octillion atoms floating tightly together as molecules and never quite touching! The miniscule space between them can't actually be seen, but it exists.

You lose atoms from your body as you breathe, poo, wee and shed things like skin, bogies and ear wax. New atoms join your body through the air you breathe, the food you eat and what you drink.

It can be hard to believe that the atoms in you today will have once been in dinosaurs and dogs, bacteria and trees.

The atoms making the outer layer of your skin renew every year and your skeleton every 10 years.

What it was like to be an Ancient Roman

David Long

Black-and-white illustrations by Stefano Tambellini

Embark on a fascinating foray into the lives of the Ancient Romans with Blue Peter Award-winning author David Long.

Who were the Romans and how did this small tribe come to dominate Italy before establishing the largest empire the world has ever seen? Why were the Romans such brilliant innovators, responsible for inventions including newspapers, concrete, surgeon's tools and even an efficient postal system? What made their army invincible and their buildings so remarkable? And why, eventually, did the whole empire come crashing down? David Long explains what life was actually like for ordinary Romans as well as their famous emperors, while also looking at the lingering influence of Roman civilisation throughout the world.

- The second book in the new What it was like to be... series, exploring the daily life, culture and legacy of some of our most extraordinary historical civilisations
- "David Long excels at telling intriguing stories from the past" -- The Independent
- Concise and entertaining, What it was like to be an Ancient Roman evokes a deeper understanding and appreciation of Roman culture beyond just what the Romans did in Britain, from the building of an empire to the daily lives of ordinary citizens
- An accessible, fact-filled and beautifully illustrated package perfect for KS2 classroom learning, with free activities and learning resources to be made available on publication

Welcome to Camp Killer

Cynthia Murphy

Cover artwork by Ali Ardington

LEAD
TITLE

Bestselling YA horror writer Cynthia Murphy makes her Barrington Stoke debut with a spine-chilling thriller about a summer camp gone deathly wrong.

When an American-style residential camp is set up in the grounds of an English stately home, the teenage instructors are looking forward to a fun summer of activities. But right from the outset, things don't feel quite right at Camp Miller. Rumours circulate of a tragedy that took place in the grounds and some of the instructors report unexplained sightings of a ghostly presence. Then the incidents begin – a near-drowning out on the lake, a fatal fall from a cliff-face ... Are these tragic accidents or is there something more sinister going on at Camp Killer?

- Prepare to be chilled by this Barrington Stoke debut from TikTok sensation Cynthia Murphy, whose gripping debut, Last One to Die, was the Lancashire Book of the Year 2022
- “Point Horror for a new generation” -- Kathryn Foxfield, author of Good Girls Die First, on Last One to Die
- An addictive page-turner, Welcome to Camp Killer expertly captures the reader's attention and keeps them gripped with its sensational plot
- Amidst a wave in popularity of YA suspense horror, this is perfect for fans of One of Us Is Lying or A Good Girl's Guide to Murder
- Publication to be supported by digital POS & an author-led TikTok campaign

How long do animals sleep?

Most animals have a daily pattern of rest and activity. Some animals are more active during the day (diurnal) and some are more active during the night (nocturnal). How much time do animals spend sleeping? Well, it depends on the animal.

Giraffes sleep standing up for ten-minute stints at a time, with their eyes barely closed. They sometimes lean against a tree or another giraffe for support.

GIRAFFE
1 h, 54 min

HOW TO READ IT
A full day is made of 24 hours, so the two circles in the clock represent 12 hours each. The pink portion indicates the average time each animal sleeps per day.

AFRICAN ELEPHANT

HORSE
2 h, 54 min

COW

Dolphins keep half of their brain active when they sleep, so that they can continue to breathe. They also only close one eye at a time when they sleep.

DOG
10 h, 36 min

KOALA
20 h

Koalas eat more than a kilo of leaves every day – their favourite is from the eucalyptus tree. All that eating and digesting requires a lot of energy, so they spend a vast amount of their time sleeping!

HUMAN SLEEP

Humans need different amounts of sleep at different times in their lives. A new baby may sleep for as many as 16 hours a day by taking frequent naps. As children grow into adults, they usually stop taking regular naps and sleep for a single, long period each night.

Why we love it:

'We're long-standing fans of Claire's work and delighted to welcome her to Firefly. Tapper Watson is a fun, fantastical adventure full of inventiveness, humour and great characters, and we can't wait to publish it!'

Penny Thomas, Publisher

Tapper Watson and the Quest for the Nemo Machine

Claire Fayers

- Doctor Who meets Guardians of the Galaxy for readers aged 9+
- A joyous, wildly imaginative mash-up of Greek myth and science fiction, full of extraordinary worlds and characters.
- Comprehensive marketing campaign planned for the author with strong social media presence

Summary:

Tapper Watson is just an ordinary Erisean boy who loves adventure stories. But when one of his sixty-seven cousins sends him away on a smugglers' submarine through the River Lethe to other worlds, he just wants to go home again.

On an unscheduled visit to Earth he meets Fern Shakespeare and a talking plant called Morse, and their adventures begin. But chased through worlds by a pair of trigger-happy lobster mobsters in search of the mysterious Nemo Machine, Tapper begins to realise that he might not be so ordinary after all...

Claire Fayers grew up in South-east Wales where, thanks to her local library, she developed a lifelong obsession with myth and magic. Her books include The Accidental Pirates (Waterstones Book of the Month, shortlisted for the Children's Book Award), and Storm Hound (winner of the Tir na nOg award 2020). She lives in the Welsh mountains with her husband and two disappointingly unmagical cats. Claire is based near Crickhowell.

She's illustrated many books and written some, including The Seal Children (winner of Tir na N'og children's book prize) and The Lost Words with Robert Macfarlane (winner of Kate Greenaway Medal). She also received the Hay Medal for Illustration for The Lost Words. She has said of The Song that Sings Us:
'The feel of an absolute modern classic about it. A song of active hope in a dark world'

Skrimсли

Nicola Davies

Cover and internal illustration by Jackie Morris

- Prequel to double Carnegie-nominated The Song that Sings Us
- Stunning foiled hardback with cover, map and internal chapter illustrations from award-winning illustrator Jackie Morris.
- High profile publicity campaign inc BA Christmas catalogue, trade advertising, innovative POS, Winter Hay Festival, bookshop launch appearances and social media campaign.

Summary:

- Who you are if you've never seen another face like yours?
- Where do you belong if you don't know where your home is?
- What do you call yourself when others call you 'freak'?
- How can you be brave when you are full of fear?
- Why would you choose purpose over love?

- Skrimсли is the second fantasy adventure from author Nicola Davies set in a world where animals and humans can sometimes share their thoughts. It traces the early life of Skrimсли, the tiger sea captain who stole readers' hearts in The Song that Sings Us. He and his friends, Owl and Elo, must escape the clutches of the tyrannical circus owner Kobret Majak, and his twin assassin-acrobats, then stop a war and save the ancient forest, where the Tiger, and the Owl are sacred guardians. Skrimсли and his friends are helped by the Palatine, desert princess and her eagle, a chihuahua who thinks she's a wolf, a horse with heart of gold and the crew of a very unusual ship. This is a story full of excitement and danger, that explores themes of friendship, loyalty, identity and love, in the context of some of humanity's toughest problems.

Strange Tales

Daniel Morden

A beguiling collection of tales from multi-award winning master storyteller Daniel Morden

- Gorgeous gift-edition hardback with sprayed edges and a ribbon bookmark, to match Catherine Fisher's The Red Gloves and Other Stories.
- Inspired by folklore and myth from Daniel's travels around the world.
- Daniel Morden has been described as "one of the UK's finest storytellers" by BBC Radio 3.
- Perfect for middle grade readers who love the uncanny, the unnerving and the downright bizarre.

Summary:

A boy who cannot feel fear... A girl pursued by a ghostly figure... Two sisters turned into beasts... A wild party where all the guests are skeletons... These extraordinary stories from long ago have been shaped over a lifetime of performance in schools, festivals and theatres by master storyteller, Daniel Morden into thrilling adventures, brimming with mystery and magic.

To open these pages is to journey into a strange world where invisible beings move among us; animals speak, and luck, spells and fortune are never to be treated lightly!

SAMPLE SPREADS

A beautifully illustrated children's guide to the facts and philosophy of dragons, from treasure hoards to breathing fire.

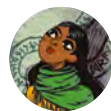

Hidden deep in the mountains, a kingdom of dragons once thrived. Dragon song echoed across the peaks and priceless treasures were guarded in lairs. But what happened to this kingdom? Dragonsightings are incredibly rare now, so how can we spot one of these elusive creatures? And if we were to meet one, how would we talk to them and approach them safely? Luckily for you, the answers are recorded in this book by the famous Drackenosopher, Professor Zoya Agnis, illustrated by Alexander Utkin.

You will learn everything you need to know about dragons, from breathing fire and taking flight, to the brutal slayers that preyed upon them. This beautifully illustrated manual will guide you on your path to becoming an expert in the prestigious world of dragon studies.

KEY SELLING POINTS

- A completely fresh take on the subject of dragons, featuring a diverse group of characters as well as locations from all over the world.
- Amazingly rich and wondrous art from Alexander Utkin, author of Gamayun Tales.
- Third book in this beautiful series, following on in the same easy-to-access style with fantastic writing that inspires children to use their imaginations.

KEYWORDS: dragons; myths; mythical beasts; dragon book; breathing fire; how to train your dragon; magical creatures; fantastic beasts and where to find them; magic; Dragonology;

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

The Grizzled Grist Does Not Exist

Author: Juliette MacIver

Illustrator: Sarah Davis

An exuberant rhyming picture book about a school trip to the wilderness, where no one sees the danger—apart from quiet Liam, who pays attention and saves the day with his particular skill of hiding.

ABOUT THE BOOK

It's the class trip to Dismal Hills wilderness. The children aren't worried about the legendary Grizzled Grist who lives here; they're excited to show off their outdoor skills—foraging, climbing, trapping. No one's impressed with Liam's skill of hiding. But it turns out a hider can see what others think does not exist.

A hider moves with soundless ease and treads as softly as the breeze.

At times, a hider barely breathes—but what is this the hider sees?

When the children and their frazzled teacher walk confidently into disaster, little Liam saves the day—a triumph for the quiet child no one notices..

SALES POINTS

- School setting with a relatably frazzled teacher
- A rhyming picture book with call and refrain that's great to read aloud
- Puts the quiet, observant child at the centre
- Authentically diverse classroom of children
- Ideal for back to school promotions
- New story from the world of international success That's Not a Hippopotamus

ABOUT THE AUTHOR & ILLUSTRATOR

Juliette MacIver lives in Wellington, New Zealand. Juliette has a Linguistics degree and diploma in teaching English. Her popular books are regularly shortlisted for awards. Sarah Davis is a leading illustrator with a wide portfolio of award-winning books, living in Sydney, Australia.

Sales Points

Corrina Campbell is the third Little Door Debut to be published by Little Door Books. She is a highly talented new author/illustrator with a wonderfully quirky style, bringing to life her colourful world.

This is a perfect alternative seasonal tale about friendship, love and happiness, and doing the right thing.

Description

Everybody loves the stars but have you ever loved them enough to steal them? Not just one or two, but all of them? When a little girl decides she wants a real star of her own she can't resist taking them all. What she doesn't realise is that taking the stars will have disastrous consequences for her and millions of other children around the world.

But what will it take for her to give them back?

About the author

Corrina is a self-taught illustrator/author with a background in primary education. Having taught children from nursery to primary 7, Corrina has a wealth of knowledge with regards to engaging children in literature and knowing what makes a great story. It was this insight that encouraged her to start writing her own stories.

After spending several years writing, she finally explored the prospect of having one of her books illustrated. Unfortunately, finding a freelance illustrator proved challenging and expensive, so Corrina decided to have a go herself. Learning from her kitchen table via social media and online tutorials, Corrina taught herself the basic skills of graphic design and illustration. Eventually, after months of experimenting, she created her first fully illustrated picture book, The Girl who Stole the Stars.

Corrina continues to create and learn, now producing and selling her illustrated work online, while also developing other picture book ideas and stories.

The Raven's Song

Shortlisted for:
1. Aurealis Prize
2. Book of the Year, Children's Book Council Australia
(winner TBA August 18th)
3. Western Australia Premier's Prize (winner TBA June 23rd)

About The Raven's Song

The Raven's Song alternates between the stories of Phoenix, who lives in a near-future world impacted by climate change and a devastating pandemic; and Shelby, one hundred years in the future in a post-pandemic, post-pollution, post-city world where each community is exactly three hundred and fifty people sustainably subsisting on seven hundred hectares. The story of a world that is beginning to fall apart, and a chance to see it all put back together, The Raven's Song is a vision of hope for the future, seen through the eyes of the young people who will fight for it.

"An extraordinary tale, a weaving of narratives exploring present and future. A brilliant story from two incredibly talented writers, each voice adding further depth to the worlds created by Fraillon and MacDibble. Highly original, and thought-provoking. I loved it" - Gill Lewis

The Most Famous Rhinoceros

Dianne Hofmeyr, illustrated by Simona Mulazzani

A moving and beautiful story inspired by a work of art, Albrecht Dürer's celebrated woodcut print of the rhinoceros sent from India to Portugal in 1515

Princess Beatrix is excited to meet the amazing one-horned creature that has been sent as a gift to her father, the King of Portugal. Could it be a unicorn?

But the new animal is not a unicorn – it's a rhinoceros called Genda, who has travelled all the way from India, and Beatrix immediately loves him. She becomes Genda's friend and protector, and is determined to persuade her father the King that this wild creature should be returned to his jungle home.

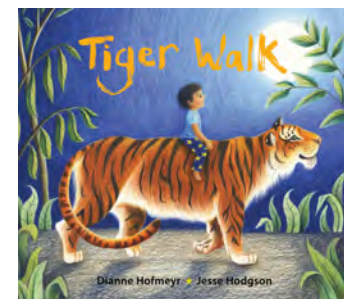

This poignant story is inspired by the real rhinoceros depicted in 1515 by Albrecht Dürer in his world-famous woodcut, which can still be seen today.

- A moving and beautiful story inspired by a work of art, Albrecht Dürer's celebrated woodcut print of the rhinoceros sent from India to Portugal in 1515
- Vivid storytelling and characterisation bring the historical characters alive for a 21st century reader
- Sumptuous, richly decorative illustrations
- A story to encourage discussion about animal rights
- Endnote on the real historical event behind the story

Beatrix ran off to where Genda was kept. When she offered him grass, he pushed his nose against the railings and smelt her hand. Then he nibbled.

“See! We’re friends!” whispered Beatrix.

While Genda chomped and chewed, Beatrix imagined the place he’d come from... his pathways through tall grass and the river where he snorted with friends.

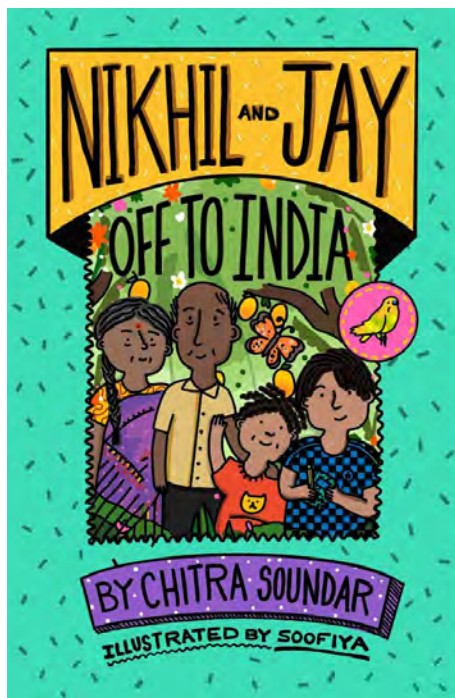

From then on, she spent every night with him beneath the stars, so he wouldn’t be lonely. But she didn’t have the heart to tell him about the combat.

Nikhil and Jay: Off to India

Chitra Soundar, illustrated by Soofiya

Nikhil and Jay visit India in this third book in the sparkling Early Reader series about a British Asian family

Nikhil and Jay and Amma and Appa are off to India for the Christmas holidays to visit Chennai Granny and Grandad. In Grandad's garden they are excited to see parrots and Chennai squirrels, a mango tree and a coconut tree. One day they go to the beach, play in the big waves and eat Granny's Indian savoury snacks. The boys have their first Chennai Christmas, with mango-leaf decorations, Indian sweets for Father Christmas, a basket of beautiful Indian wooden toys – and a special Christmas star. And last but not least, the family see in the New Year the Indian way. They make a Welcome poster, Granny lights a lamp at midnight and they all eat Granny's delicious Kesala as an Indian New Year treat.

This third book in the Nikhil and Jay series is perfect for children moving on from picture books to longer stories, helped by Soofiya's lively and characterful illustrations.

- “The Nikhil and Jay books are perfect everyday stories and early readers.” – Charlotte Hacking, CLPE
- “A perfect book for newly independent readers. With a dual-heritage family, this book is important to have on your bookshelves” – Just Imagine
- All four stories are set in India and are a perfect introduction to the country for younger children
- Funny and child-centred, with lively pictures on every page
- Nikhil and Jay: The Star Birthday was chosen for the Read for Empathy collection, 2023.
- Chitra Soundar is a regular visitor to schools and children's book workshops nationwide

Author Information

Chitra Soundar is a well known and popular writer and storyteller for children. Born in Chennai, she has written over 40 books, including Pattan's Pumpkin (illustrated by Frane Lessac) for Otter-Barry Books and the first two titles in the Nikhil and Jay series: Nikhil and Jay Save the Day and Nikhil and Jay: The Star Birthday. The Nikhil and Jay books are inspired by Chitra's two nephews and their real experiences within their blended family. Chitra divides her time between south London and Chennai, India.

Soofiya is a visual artist and illustrator. Soofiya's work explores ideas around race, gender and bodies. Their illustration and design clients include Tate Britain, Mayor of London, Hachette, BBC, Nike and many more. They illustrated Nikhil and Jay Save the Day and Nikhil and Jay: The Star Birthday. They live close to the sea and like to spend weekends painting and taking care of their plants. You can see more of their work here: soofiya.com.

The Star Whale

Nicola Davies, illustrated by Petr Horáček

Forty fantastic poems and paintings from an internationally acclaimed duo, celebrating our beautiful planet

Discover a pangolin at dusk, fly on the bat's back, visit a lion and hear about his plight; try the moth alphabet tongue-twister, meet fighting Tazzies on a night out in Tasmania or dream about the five-legged dog and three-legged cat! Then find out about real, huge Titanosaurus and amazing Coelacanths. You might spot a kingfisher, that 'small glint of wonder', and see how 'wild reclaims the world' in the urban night-time.

These beautiful poems are perfectly melded with Petr Horáček's gorgeous, glowing paintings and the combination is extraordinary – passionate, playful, thoughtful and exciting.

Like the goldfinch in the final poem, this wonderful book will 'set the heart free and flying'.

- Fabulous gift book by two internationally acclaimed stars of the children's book world
- Stunning production values including jacket, silver foil and spot uv on the jacket
- A unique celebration of the natural world in verse and pictures
- Glowing expressive artwork with collage style and textured effects by a celebrated creator of picture books
- Nicola Davies is one of Britain's most popular nature writers

Author Information

Nicola Davies is the author of more than 80 books for children and young people, including poetry, non-fiction, picture books and novels. Her work has been published in more than 10 different languages and won awards in the UK, US, Europe and Asia. In 2017, she was the first recipient of the School Library Association's award for Outstanding Contribution to Children's Non-fiction. Her recent YA novel, The Song that Sings, has been nominated for the Yoto Carnegie Medal. The Star Whale is her third collaboration with Petr Horáček. Their first, the poetry collection A First Book Of Animals, was shortlisted for the CILIP Kate Greenaway medal. Nicola regularly runs workshops for children and adults to help them find their voices as writers and advocates for nature. She lives in Pembrokeshire, Wales.

Petr Horáček has won many international awards as a creator of picture books. His glowing, expressive artwork is perfectly matched by words that speak directly to children. Petr was born in Prague and studied at the Academy of Fine Art. As a teenager he used to go out and paint in the woods, and his feeling for wild nature is very apparent in his illustrations. He moved to the UK in 1994 and his first picture books were published in 2001. He runs hugely popular workshops in schools and bookshops, and at book festivals. Petr also tutors students of illustration. His other books for Otter-Barry Books are The Last Tiger and The Perfect Present, nominated for the Yoto Carnegie Medal for Illustration. Petr lives in Worcester, UK.

Last Night I Visted a Lion

Last night, I visited a lion.
He wasn't expecting guests, he said,
yet he was still polite.
We sat, not close together
(he was a lion after all),
and spoke about the hardships of his life:
the constant need for roaring;
the way wildebeest will not hold still;
how hyaenas stand around laughing.
But most of all about the way the rains don't come as they used to;
how the dry ground cracks open,
and his cubs starve.

Tell them, he said, tell the humans
how it is for me.
So here I am, to tell you about the suffering of lions and how we need to change.

The Final Year

Matt Goodfellow, illustrated by Joe Todd-Stanton

BOOKMARKS AND A3 POSTERS AVAILABLE

The first novel, told in verse for middle-grade readers, by a leading children's poet, with atmospheric pictures by a Carnegie-shortlisted illustrator

Life can be tough in your last year of primary school. Tests to take, preparing for the change to high school. Nate is ready for it all, knowing his best friend PS is at his side - they've been inseparable since Nursery.

But when they are put in two different classes and PS finds a new friend in Turner, the school bully, Nate's world turns upside-down. As he struggles to make sense of this and forge new friendships, he's dealt another blow when his youngest brother, Dylan is rushed into hospital.

His new teacher, Mr Joshua, sees a spark inside of Nate that's lit by his love of reading and writing and shows him how to use this to process what's going on. But with so much working against him, and anger rising inside him, will this be enough?

A powerful and lyrical story about finding your place in the world and the people that matter within it.

- The first novel, told in verse for middle-grade readers, by a leading children's poet, with atmospheric pictures by a Carnegie-shortlisted illustrator
- Powerfully evocative and emotive poetry from the distinctive and authentic voice of Matt Goodfellow
- Follows the success of the CLiPPA shortlisted collections Being Me, Caterpillar Cake and Bright Bursts of Colour
- Encompasses the experiences of a boy growing up in a working class, single parent family in the North of England, an experience under-represented in children's literature
- Explores themes of family, identity, belonging, navigating friendships and the hardships of everyday life

Author Information

Former primary school teacher Matt Goodfellow is now a full-time poet who visits schools across the country to give high-energy performances and workshops. His first poetry collection for Otter-Barry Books, Chicken on the Roof, received wide acclaim. He is also the author of Caterpillar Cake, illustrated by Krina Patel-Sage and shortlisted for the CLiPPA award, Shu-Lin's Grandpa, illustrated by Yu Rong and shortlisted for the CILIP Kate Greenaway Medal, and a contributor to CLiPPA-shortlisted poetry collection Being Me: Poems about Thoughts, Worries and Feelings, all published by Otter-Barry Books. Matt lives in Stockport, Manchester, UK.

Joe Todd-Stanton's picturebook The Secret of Black Rock was longlisted for the CILIP Kate Greenaway Award and won the Waterstones Children's Book Prize. His Brownstone's Mythical Collection series has been optioned by DreamWorks. In 2023, he was shortlisted for the Yoto Carnegie Medal for Illustration for The Comet.

"A TOUCHING TALE ...
WITH LUSH ILLUSTRATIONS"
The Daily Express

A spellbinding rhyming story by Helena Garcia and Jess Rose, that brings to life the precious moments between a mother and daughter, with a sprinkle of magic and a supernatural twist.

The magical moments between a mother and her daughter as some of the most treasured memories you'll make. But what if your mummy happens to be a witch? This wonderfully witchy story is a cauldron of utterly charming ingredients told through the eyes of a little witchling. From dandelion ice-scream to pumpkin perfume and cauldron baths, and best of all a mummy who can wake up the sun and make the stars shine.

INCLUDES A RECIPE FOR DANDELION ICE-SCREAM!

AUTHOR BIO:

Helena's passion is to overturn our long-held conventions of villainous witches, so this book tells a beautiful story about the love between a daughter and her witch mother.

Helena was inspired by her first experience of Halloween whilst living in Las Vegas as a teenager. After researching the holiday's origins, she quickly became hooked on all things Celtic, gothic and quirky. This passion infused her bakes when she competed in the Great British Bake Off 2019, with her eccentric style and fun-loving personality making her an exceptionally popular contestant. She runs a witchy lifestyle brand, and is the author of several baking books.

My Mummy is a Witch is her first children's book. She now lives in Halifax, Yorkshire.

THE WHALE WATCHERS

Join The Whale Watchers on an unforgettable summer holiday adventure that raises awareness of the hugely significant, yet widely unknown, vital role that whales play in the fight against climate change, and explains how readers can help protect whales and their environment, by reducing single-use plastic and embracing a more sustainable reuse culture.

It's the first day of summer holidays and Finn can't believe his marine biologist mum is dragging him and his little brother Jesse off to miserable, rainy Scotland to study the whales that live there. Finn longs to be somewhere hot, lying by a hotel pool with his headphones on. He's sick of his mum's work, and of the knot in his stomach that tightens whenever he thinks about her hopeless cause - beautiful sea creatures endangered by a plastic-polluted ocean. But when a girl with binoculars round her neck and a dog at her heels takes Finn and Jesse to her secret lookout point, Finn soon finds himself swept up in an unforgettable adventure. But can he find hope too?

Finn was walking towards it in a trance when someone crashed straight into him, knocking his glasses clean off his face. "Watch where you're going, would you?" said a voice.

Finn groped for his glasses in the sand, blinded for a moment.

He put them back on then turned angrily towards his assailant. It was a girl, probably about the same age as him. She had wild, wind-blown hair and a furious scowl on her face that could have turned a kitten to stone. Finn only caught a glimpse of this scowl, as the girl didn't bother to stop. She just threw it over her shoulder, like an insult, then carried on storming down the beach.

A brown shaggy dog was trotting after her and around her neck, Finn noticed, was a pair of binoculars.

"You ran into ME!" he shouted after her, but she was already gone.

"Of course we won't," said Finn, with much more confidence than he felt, though when he looked across at Skye, he noticed that the hand on the tiller was shaking. He put a hand on her shoulder. "You can do this," he said, and Skye nodded, eyes fixed on the sea ahead.

"Can you see your mum's boat?" asked Skye, squinting through the mist.

But Finn couldn't see anything. It was like sailing through a cloud.

"Let me try with the binoculars," he said, but as he reached over to take them from Skye a huge wave smashed into them, spraying water over the side of the boat, and he lost his balance.

"NO!" shouted Skye as the binoculars slipped from his fingers and fell overboard.

Finn cursed internally. "I'm sorry," he said.

"It's OK," said Skye, but Finn could tell she was upset.

Within My Branches

Nicolas Michel

Translated by Sarah Ardizzone

Keynote

A gorgeous picturebook about all the visitors to a tree's branches throughout its life

Description

Have you ever wondered about the life of a tree? From its beginnings as a young sapling to its eventual end under the teeth of a saw, in Within My Branches a tree tells of the animals that took refuge among its leaves, the bad weather that caused its roots to tremble, and the shelters that were built in its branches.

Throughout the finely illustrated pages, the reader comes to understand the essential notion that nature and animals evolve in a harmony that all too often goes unnoticed by humans. A beautiful invitation to consider the natural world from the tree tops!

Sales Points

- A gorgeous picturebook in which a tree tells its life story via the stories of all the animals that passed through its branches
- Filled with beautiful pencil drawings that will be loved by children and parents alike
- A moving evocation of the interconnected natural world

Author Biography

Born 1974 in Aix-en-Provence, Nicolas Michel is a novelist and journalist. He grew up and studied in the South of France, before moving to Finland and Uganda. Within My Branches is his first picture book.

A girl moves to a new part of town where ponies run free in this warm-hearted middle-grade story of change, family and finding your home

Description

Thirteen-year-old Misty loves her house and her friends. But when her dad loses his job, she knows everything is about to change. When she and her dad move to Redbridge council estate, Misty isn't expecting much. She wasn't expecting to live on an estate where ponies run free, and she definitely wasn't expecting Dylan, a mysterious local boy who loves horses...

All Misty wants is to keep acting like everything's fine, but instead she finds that change is not always bad and great new things can come in the most unexpected ways.

Sales Points

- A moving middle-grade book that sensitively handles issues of moving home, parental unemployment and the complexities of friendships, for fans of Cathy Cassidy and Jacqueline Wilson
- Frances Moloney's debut, The Mystery of the Missing Mum, was acclaimed by critics and readers
- Publishing professional and marketing expert author Frances Moloney brings a wealth of experience and knowledge for the world of children's books to her writing

I Want a Dog

By Jon Agee

Scallywag Press

One little girl is determined to find her perfect pet at a wonderfully unusual animal shelter

The Copley County Animal Shelter has an aardvark, a lizard, a goose, a weasel, and plenty more. But do they have a dog? This little girl has even turned up with a trolley to take home a dog – and she will not take ‘no’ for an answer!

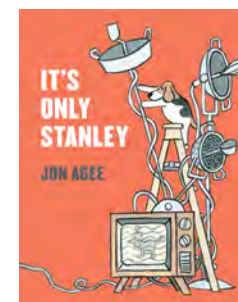

Key Selling Points

- Hilarious subversion of the standard you-cannot-have-a-pet trope, where absurdity triumphs over sense
- A wonderful read-aloud text with repetition and build up of drama
- The child narrator knows what she wants and re-iterates her priorities, proving the adult wrong
- The fun exaggeration clears the air for a sensible discussion about what pets it is really possible to have
- Award winning author with more than 2 million copies in print worldwide.
- Jon Agee's My Rhinoceros is on the Children's Book Award shortlist (FCBG).

Sales and Marketing

- One of USA's most prominent children's book creators, Jon Agee has twice toured the UK with the Children's Bookshow (2019 and 2022), visiting local schools, holding launch events and giving interviews.
- Jon is becoming known in the UK specially with educators, but most recently also voted for by children for the Children's Book Award
- THE WALL IN THE MIDDLE OF THE BOOK and IT'S ONLY STANLEY were long listed for the UKLA Award
- Books used for programmes at Seven Stories, Just Imagine and Booktrust

THE BLACK AIR

JENNIFER LANE

THE BOOK

In a remote village overshadowed by a gruesome legend and ancient superstitions, who can say what's real, what's not, and what should stay buried deep inside your head?

The Black Air is a spellbinding contemporary novel with a dark mystery at its heart. Set in the depths of rural Lancashire as a community marks the 400th anniversary of the Long Byrne witches' deaths, this is a story about obsession, mental health, disordered eating, the supernatural, and the lengths that teenage girls will go to for the sake of all-consuming female friendships.

Cover illustration by Sarah Dennis.

THE AUTHOR

Jennifer Lane is an author and freelance nature writer. Jennifer discovered the legend of the Pendle witches at a young age while exploring the moors of Lancashire and became fascinated by all things mystical. She is now a Reiki healer, yogi and shamanic practitioner.

HIDEKI SMITH

A.J. HARTLEY

THE BOOK

Fifteen-year-old Caleb Hideki Smith is a loser's loser.

As one of the few half-Japanese students in East Portersville High School, Caleb has accepted that he will never fit in. He's not popular, can't play football, and the girl he likes doesn't even know he exists. Well, that was before he accidentally burnt down the town's most beloved historical landmark.

On one fateful day, Caleb and his sister Emily stumble upon a Shinto shrine deep in the Great Smoky Mountains: a shrine Caleb knows wasn't there the day before. Faced with his unfamiliar heritage, Caleb quickly learns that fitting in was the least of his problems. You cannot outrun who you are and the past will always catch up to you eventually.

Something is lurking in the caves of the mountains. And it wants to get out...

The new mythological fantasy from New York Times bestselling author A.J. Hartley, with Hisako Osako and Kuma Hartley.

BOOKMARKS AND A3 POSTERS AVAILABLE

THE AUTHOR

Author A.J. Hartley is the bestselling writer of mystery/thriller, fantasy, historical fiction, and young adult novels Cold Bath Street, Written Stone Lane and Impervious. He is also the author of the Monsters in the Mirror middle grade series.

Who's Behind the Book?

Author: Stella A. Caldwell has written more than 20 books for children covering everything from mythical beasts and legends to the ancient Egyptians, pirates and medieval knights. She spent many years working in children's publishing as an editor before writing her first book, Dragonworld.

Illustrator: Eugenia Nobati's work has been published in nine countries and more than forty books. She was selected among 16 illustrators representing Argentina in Bratislava's Bial 2012. In 2014 Eugenia was recognised by ALIJA, Argentina's section of IBBY, for the best illustrated book.

A WARRIOR'S HELMET

- ☛ A rich and powerful warrior wore this helmet in battle. It was lined with wool or leather to protect the warrior's head from injury. The iron frame guarded the eyes and nose, while plates at the back protected the neck.
- ☛ This helmet is one of only two that have survived from the Viking age. It was found in a grave in nine fragments and needed to be reconstructed.
- ☛ Viking warriors did not wear a uniform. They dressed and armed themselves. As well as a helmet, they wore a padded leather tunic or a chain mail shirt to protect their body. They carried a round, wooden shield to ward off blows from sharp spears, swords and arrows.
- ☛ Only the wealthiest Vikings wore iron helmets, which is why so few have been discovered. Most warriors may have worn a cap made of hard leather.
- ☛ Many other treasures were discovered alongside this helmet. These included a chain mail shirt, weapons, dice and game pieces, a sledge and stirrups. The Vikings believed a dead warrior would need these things in the next world.
- ☛ Vikings are sometimes shown wearing horned helmets. This idea is a myth, however, as no such helmets have ever been found.

WHO LIVES ON MARS?

Do you know what this roaming robot is doing? It is a Mars rover on a mission to explore our nearest neighbour in Space. So far no humans have set foot on this rocky red planet. Probes and rovers controlled by people on Earth are sent to discover more about Mars. The rovers carry special tools and science equipment to search for signs of life. Scientists want to know whether people could live here one day.

Would you like to visit Mars? Although it is the closest planet to Earth, it is millions of miles away. It would take about nine months on board a speeding rocket to get there!

Deimos

TWO MOONS

Mars has two moons. One is called Phobos and the other is called Deimos. They are both much smaller than Earth's moon.

Phobos

ROCKY LANDSCAPE

Mars has tall mountains, huge volcanoes and deep valleys. So far, the only water the rovers have found is ice.

HANDY ARM

The end of the robotic arm can hold tools for collecting and testing rocks.

SPOT IT!

How many moons can you see?
Can you see a camera that sends pictures back to Earth?

ROVING EXPLORER

A rover spends years exploring and sending pictures and information back to Earth.

BUMPY RIDE

Six springy wheels help the rover roll over knee-high rocks.

HIGH FLYER

A little helicopter gives a bird's eye view of the landscape and can land in places that a rover cannot reach.

Evolution

Sarah Darwin, Eva Maria Sadowski, Olga Baumert

Discover the story of life on Earth and how it came to be, with real-life scientists Sarah Darwin and Eva Maria Sadowski.

The Earth has come a very long way from the molten planet with oceans of magma that existed 4.5 billion years ago. Since then, the land has shifted, the climate has changed and life has flourished. But how exactly did living things come to be?

Let real-life scientists Sarah Darwin and Eva Maria Sadowski enlighten you about the fascinating facts of evolution: what it is and how it works. Dive into the history of life on Earth and learn about the theory of natural selection that Sarah's great-great-grandfather, Charles Darwin, and naturalist Alfred Russel Wallace came up with together. In this beautifully illustrated book, feature spreads explain the important things that you need to know and a timeline plots the history of life on Earth.

Budding botanists will be delighted by this in-depth tour of life that leaves no stone unturned and will keep children (and adults) enthralled for hours. Find out how plants, humans, pet dogs and everything else came to be and what this might mean for our future.

- Co-authored by Sarah Darwin, Charles Darwin's great-great-granddaughter, and Eva Maria Sadowski.
- Stunning, luscious artwork throughout brings each page to life with everything from bacteria to dinosaurs and giant fungi to ginkgo trees.
- Offers an in-depth look at evolution, helping curious kids understand and engage with the world around them.
- This glorious guide to evolution is packed full of fantastic facts and has something for everyone.

Author Information

Dr Sarah Darwin originally trained as an artist and then as a scientist, specialising botany. She spent several years living and working in the Galápagos Islands and studying the Galápagos tomatoes there. More recently she has been part of a project in Berlin studying nightingales. Sarah is the great-great-granddaughter of Charles Darwin and works at the Museum Für Naturkunde, Berlin.

Dr Eva-Maria Sadowski is a palaeobotanist, who mainly studies plant remains that are enclosed in amber. Eva lives in Berlin and works at the Museum Für Naturkunde, Berlin.

Olga Baumert is an artist, illustrator and graphic designer. Originally from Poland, she studied Fine Art and Jewellery before moving to the UK where she received her degree in Graphic Design and Illustration at De Montfort University. Olga currently lives and works in Leicester.

THE CAUSES OF CLIMATE CHANGE

'Climate' describes overall weather conditions and patterns, such as temperature and rainfall, over a long period of time. That's not to be confused with weather, which refers to a particular event, for example a sunny day or a storm. Earth's climate has changed gradually throughout history, caused by several different factors. About 200 years ago, humans became one of those factors.

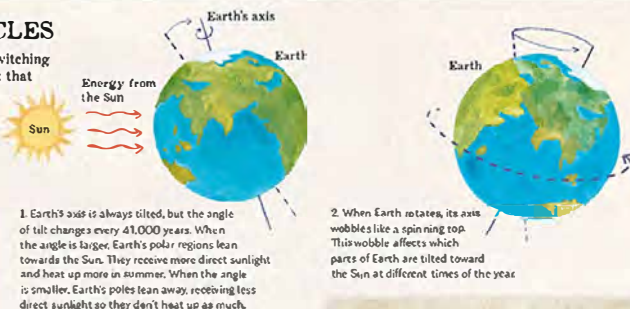

HOW TO GET WARM

Earth is the right temperature for life because certain gases in the atmosphere hold in heat, just like the glass in a greenhouse does. During Earth's history, these greenhouse gases, such as carbon dioxide and methane, were released into the air by volcanic eruptions and other natural processes. When the amount of greenhouse gas went down, Earth cooled. When the amount went up, Earth got hotter.

THE MILANKOVITCH CYCLES

For the past 2.5 million years, Earth has been switching between cold and warm periods. Scientists think that regular changes in Earth's orbit and the way it spins result in periodic increases and decreases in how much energy gets to us from the Sun. These warming and cooling cycles are called Milankovitch cycles.

1. Earth's axis is always tilted, but the angle of tilt changes every 41,000 years. When the angle is larger, Earth's polar regions lean towards the Sun. They receive more direct sunlight and heat up more in summer. When the angle is smaller, Earth's poles lean away, receiving less direct sunlight so they don't heat up as much.

2. When Earth rotates, its axis wobbles like a spinning top. This wobble affects which parts of Earth are tilted toward the Sun at different times of the year.

3. Earth's orbit - the path that it takes around the Sun - has an effect, too. The shape of Earth's orbit is almost a circle, but over a period of 100,000 years it gets slightly more stretched out. When this happens, Earth travels both closer to and further from the Sun over the course of a year.

PIONEERING PEOPLE

The Milankovitch cycles were named after Milutin Milankovitch (1879-1958). He calculated how Earth's orbit and the tilt of its axis changed the incoming energy from the Sun. Milutin's ideas helped explain some causes of natural climate change. His calculations are still used today.

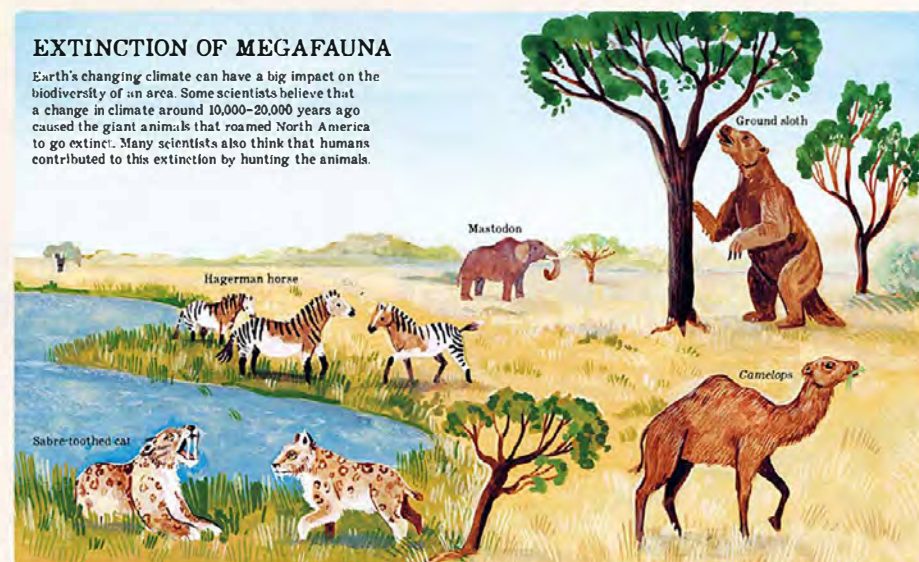

ALBEDO EFFECT

Another thing that can affect Earth's temperature, but that isn't part of the Milankovitch cycles, is called the Albedo Effect. This happens when large areas of the Earth are covered with ice. Pale surfaces like ice or snow reflect more solar energy than dark, bare soil. So, when there is more ice, the planet cools down.

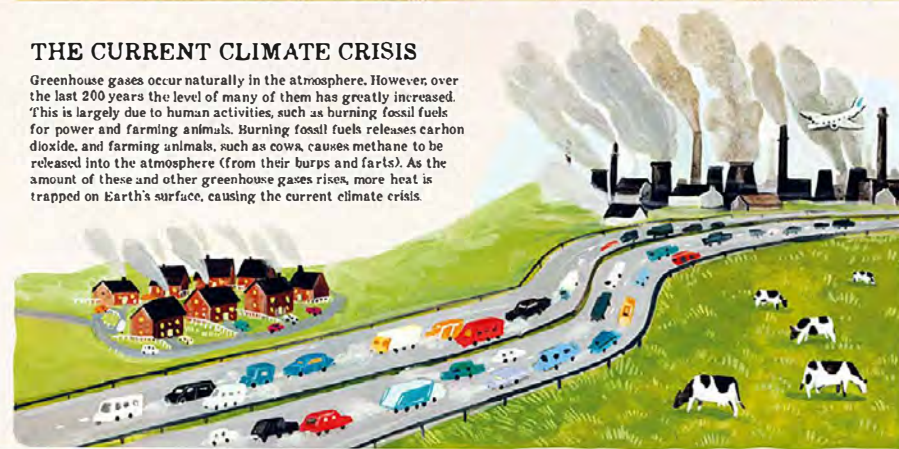

EXTINCTION OF MEGAFAUNA

Earth's changing climate can have a big impact on the biodiversity of an area. Some scientists believe that a change in climate around 10,000-20,000 years ago caused the giant animals that roamed North America to go extinct. Many scientists also think that humans contributed to this extinction by hunting the animals.

THE CURRENT CLIMATE CRISIS

Greenhouse gases occur naturally in the atmosphere. However, over the last 200 years the level of many of them has greatly increased. This is largely due to human activities, such as burning fossil fuels for power and farming animals. Burning fossil fuels releases carbon dioxide, and farming animals, such as cows, causes methane to be released into the atmosphere (from their burps and farts). As the amount of these and other greenhouse gases rises, more heat is trapped on Earth's surface, causing the current climate crisis.
