A powerful and lyrical story about finding your place in the world and the people that matter within it.

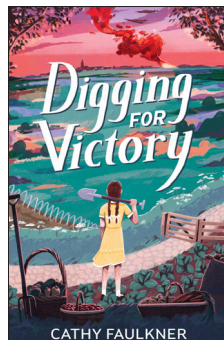

'Well-written, authentic and very moving. And could really help to inspire children to write their own stories in their own voices.'
- David Almond

'I predict that this wonderful book will become standard fare in year six. So many levels to The Final Year.' - Pie Corbett

Living on an East London council estate has its worries - and life for 15 year old Molly hasn't always been easy. But she has a dream, a dream to be a boxer just like her older brother Denny.

But one night everything changes. There's an assault outside Molly's local boxing club, Denny's nowhere to be found and the police are after him.

Molly must prove her brother's innocence and delve into the underbelly of East London, and her family history where new and old secrets are revealed...

Praise for Meg Grehan

'So utterly real ... Amazing to think it's only Grehan's second book.'
- The Irish Independent (for The Deepest Breath)

'Emotionally rich and gloriously queer.'
- Kirkus, starred review (for Baby Teeth)

'The Lonely Book will, I'm sure, find plenty of friends in all corners of the classroom and school library' - Just Imagine (for The Lonely Book)
