WINGS OF FIRE: TALONS OF POWER (WINGS OF FIRE GRAPHIC NOVEL #9)

TUI T. SUTHERLAND

For every villain, there is a hero ...

Turtle isn't one of the heroes he reads about in stories. If he were, he'd use his animus powers to help Pyrrhia -- instead of keeping his abilities a secret, even from his own sister. Now that Darkstalker, the sinister and impossibly old dragon from Pyrrhia's most notorious legends, has returned, Turtle knows his own role is simple: hide. And stay hidden.

The more he watches Darkstalker from the shadows, the more Turtle knows that someone needs to stop the powerful dragon. A real hero. But Turtle is running out of time to find one, which means ... he might have to try to save the day himself.

A room webbed

Snip. Snip-snip. Snip.

A half hour later, the kitchen floor was littered with knots and tangles. Badger kicked the stringy mass of it into a corner and announced, "All clear!"

Skunk stood contemplating a strand of Badger's fluorescent floss. He met Badger's gaze. "This was an inside job."

They went to Aunt Lula's bedroom to see what they'd find.

They found two rats fast asleep. In the top bunk, Zeno slept with his mouth open, sheets cascading off the side. In the bunk below, Zephyr lay twisted in a swirl of bedding. Each rat had left their sweater in a heap at the end of their bunk. Badger extracted a fluorescent-green dental floss container from Zeno's paw and flicked it open—empty.

In the hallway, Skunk said, "I do not get it."

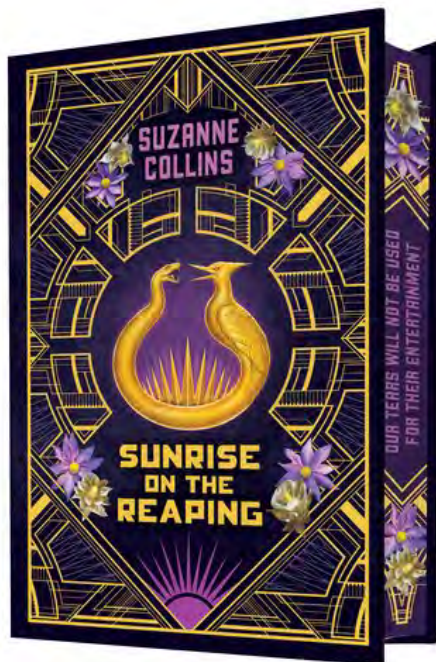

"Yes, why? All that string. It's an odd thing to do," said Badger.

There was a long pause, and then Skunk jerked his head toward Aunt Lula's bedroom door. "Maybe we should wake them up. When I lived with Scratch under the bridge, she said she could go either nocturnal, up at night, or diurnal, up during the day. 'Whatever is convenient' is what she said. But overall, I would say her rhythm leaned toward being up at night. Nocturnal!"
